PRICE FIVE CENTS

NEW TIRE ORDERS . . . PAGE 8

Final Bulletins

Retread Tire Price Fixed at $5.40

OTTAWA (CP)—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board today described briefly the new ceiling prices which it has established on all retreaded and used tires, used tubes, and retreading and repair services.

The price order fixes a maximum price of $5.40 for a similar popular 6.00x16 size of used tire may be sold, if the tire did not require sectional repair before its sale.

The dealer may, however, charge up to $5.40 for a similar tire on which he has made one built-in and vulcanized sectional repair, or $9.70 for a tire which required two or more such repairs.

Gasoline for Tourists

E. G. Rowbottom, deputy Minister of Trade and Industry, said today American tourists will have ample gasoline supplies to reach the main tourist centres of British Columbia this year.

Tire Permits Being Issued in Victoria

Any motorist in Victoria who thinks he is entitled to a new tire or a retread must apply for a ration permit at 408 Union Bank Building which is the headquarters of the Wartime Prices and Trades Board.

Munitions Minister C. D. Howe announced today in Ottawa the new drastic regulations governing tire selling and retreading. The regulations will affect over 1,000,000 motorists.

See page 8 for new tire regulations.

Graham Spry Coming

OTTAWA (CP)—Graham Spry, personal assistant to Sir Stafford Cripps, will make a speaking tour of western Canada next week, the speakers' division of the National War Services Department said today. He will speak at Winnipeg, Calgary, and on May 22 at Vancouver.

More Shipyard Pay

OTTAWA (CP)—Wage increases for shipyard helpers and laborers at Kingston, Midland and Collingwood, Ont., have been approved by the National War Labor Board. It was announced this afternoon.

Rates for helpers are advanced from 47 to 50 cents an hour and for laborers from 42 to 45 cents an hour.

Nazi Bomber Driven From Iceland

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—The U.S. army today announced a German long-range bomber, sighted off eastern Iceland, was driven off by heavy anti-aircraft fire, with no bombs dropped and the extent of damage, if any, to the raider undetermined.

Jap Riot Brings Quick Internment

OTTAWA (CP)—Japanese who participated in a "fracas" at quarters where they were held in Vancouver Wednesday, will be interned immediately, Labor Mitchell told the House of Commons this afternoon.

Mr. Mitchell gave figures to show that out of a total of 22,084 Japanese to be dealt with in the movement away from the Pacific coast, 4,300 had been removed from the so-called "vulnerable" points and a total of 9,313 had been handled in the whole movement to date.

The task of moving Japanese from Vancouver Island and other vulnerable points was "practically completed."

Movement to sugar beet fields was progressing. Alberta had absorbed 1,635 and Manitoba 720. (See Vancouver story page 2.)

Coral Sea Wounded

LONDON (CP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Sydney said the first Allied casualties from the Coral Sea naval battle of last week had reached an Australian port and were being taken to inland hospitals.

Ship Hit But Survives

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A sturdy medium-sized cargo ship survived three torpedoes and a prolonged shelling from an Axis submarine and was safe in a Gulf of Mexico port today with loss of one life.

Retaken By Chinese

CHUNGKING (AP)—Authoritative sources reported tonight that Chinese troops, operating only 25 miles southwest of Nanking, capital of the Japanese-sponsored government for conquered China, had recaptured Holsien, on the Yangtze.

About 100 Japanese were killed in the fight, it was said.

It was off Holsien Dec. 12, 1937, that Japanese bombers sank the United States gunboat Panay.

Smash Jap Ship

AN ALLIED BASE SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA (CP)—Allied planes, dropping bombs while flying only mast-high, dealt a smashing blow to Japanese shipping in Ambon Harbor, 600 miles north of Australia, in a daylight raid.

Maclean Studies Ontario System

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's system of crown attorneys was studied today by H. Alan Maclean, senior solicitor of the British Columbia Attorney General's department. He conferred with Cecil Snyder, deputy Attorney-General, and H. H. Donald, inspector of legal offices. Mr. Maclean is here with Hon. R. L. Maitland, Attorney-General of British Columbia.

India Gurkhas, U.S. Pilots Checking Japs

Associated Press
British military quarters reported today fierce Indian Gurkhas have counter-attacked the Japanese in Burma and gained a respite from enemy pressure at the gateway to India.

Latest reports said the nearly exhausted British rearguard now is around Kalewa, 40 miles from the Assam frontier of India.

On the Allied left flank, Chinese dispatches indicate the Japanese have driven nearly 120 miles along the twisting Burma Road into China proper.

Chinese headquarters said Chinese troops had destroyed bridges across the upper Salween River and were holding the east bank against enemy vanguards 60 miles west of Paoshan.

Paoshan is 180 miles inside Chinese Yunnan province from the Burma frontier by road, 100 miles by air.

Another Japanese column striking northward from the Burma Road was reported threatening the ancient city of Tengyueh, on the caravan route between China and Burma.

U.S. FLIERS HELP

NEW DELHI (CP)—While veteran Chinese troops fought desperately to check Japanese forces pushing up the Burma Road into Yunnan province, American pilots were reported today to be whittling down the invaders' air power by daring raids on their vital bases in both Burma and Indo-China.

Striking from secret airfields in India, big U.S. army bombers, in their ninth attack in the Burma theatre, raided the Japanese airbase at Myitkyina in far northern Burma and set fire to many grounded planes, Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's headquarters announced.

HANOI BOMBED

Simultaneously a communique released in Chungking announced today the American Volunteer Group had reached out a long arm to pound the important Japanese air base at Hanoi in Indo-China, more than 650 miles south-east of Myitkyina.

"Fifteen Japanese planes, including bombers, one large transport, and two-seater and single-seater fighters, were burned on the ground, said the Chungking announcement, issued by A.V.G. headquarters. At least 25 other Japanese planes were reported damaged and direct hits were scored on airdrome buildings.

Vandals Damaging Workmen's Cars

City police are looking for juveniles believed responsible for damaging V.M.D. employees' autos while parked on the company lot outside the No. 2 Outer Wharf plant.

The trouble started over a month ago when workmen came off shift to find their tires deflated and sand in the gasoline tanks. This has been going on spasmodically ever since, mostly in the late afternoon and evening.

A serious view is being taken of this vandalism because of stringent gasoline and tire restrictions now in force. Workmen on the night shift particularly feel the effect of this damage. Leaving work at 12.30 in the morning, after street cars have ceased to run, many have had to walk home when they found the air let out of their tires and their gas lines clogged with sand.

Noted Dentist Dies

TORONTO (CP)—William Ernest Cummer, 62, internationally-known lecturer and author on dentistry, died in hospital here today. Born in Hamilton, Ont., he graduated from The Royal College of Dental Surgeons in Toronto.

What Becomes of Merchant Ships?

French Immobilize Martinique Warships

WASHINGTON (AP)—French warships at Martinique are being immobilized, it was authoritatively disclosed today.

The immobilization is being carried out in co-operation between French and American naval and other officials on the spot. "Other important details of a comprehensive solution of the problem of French possessions in the Caribbean are still being discussed, it was said.

Responsible sources emphasized these negotiations are being carried on directly with Admiral Georges Robert, French High Commissioner on Martinique, and that the United States is not in any sense dealing with or looking to the Vichy government in this matter.

Warships affected by the immobilization agreement include, it is understood, the 22,146-ton aircraft carrier Bearn and the cruisers Emile Bertin and Jeanne d'Arc.

(Reports recently have said there were four French destroyers also at Martinique.)

BRITISH NAVY SHOWS GROWTH

LONDON (CP)—A hint of the growth of the British Navy behind the barriers of wartime secrecy was given today in photographs of new vessels published in the 1941 edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, just issued.

Included are pictures of new cruisers of the Mauritius and Dido classes as well as destroyers of the Hunt class and corvettes of the Flower class. The Mauritius is an 8,000-ton vessel, the Dido 5,450 and the Hunt 904.

The edition embodies information available up to the middle of April. One photograph shows the 33,550-ton battleship Nelson under way after being holed by an Italian torpedo.

Photographs in the German section disclose the silhouette of have advised the United States it is ready to immobilize for duration of the war French warships now stationed at Martinique, but that it could not hand over to the United States merchant ships berthed there.

This course of action had been suggested Wednesday by the Paris press, and the reported Vichy stand was regarded as an attempt to compromise on demands on Martinique said to have been submitted by the United States.

(The Berlin radio broadcast Wednesday a Vichy dispatch saying the United States had demanded immobilization of these warships and had asked that Vichy surrender a number of merchant ships now in Caribbean ports.

(This request, the broadcast said, would be opposed by the Vichy government as contrary to the terms of its armistice with Germany.)

(The London Daily Mail said today Germany had flatly forbidden Vichy to surrender the merchant ships and had given orders to scuttle them if necessary. The paper estimated there are 140,000 tons of merchant shipping in Martinique harbor.)

War Risk Insurance

OTTAWA (CP)—War risk insurance policies are to be issued on a cash premium basis under terms of the government bill providing this form of protection for Canadian citizens, it was revealed when the bill was considered by the House of Commons banking and commerce committee today.

"This is a type of insurance that should not be left until bombers are overhead," said T. d'Arcy Leonard, K.C., who prepared the bill. Persons wanting war risk insurance should buy it immediately it becomes available and not wait until there is a bombardment, he said.

the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen differs greatly from that of her sister ship, the Admiral Hipper, and closely resembles that of the 35,000-ton battleship Tirpitz.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red army reported today it was smashing at the very gates of Kharkov, important industrial centre of the Ukraine, in a full-scale spring offensive coinciding with German preoccupation on the Kerch peninsula 380 miles to the south, where the Russians admitted giving some ground.

The attack on Kharkov, which the Russians said already had smashed through the first line of German defences and is hammering at the second, is no mere diversionary action to lessen enemy pressure on Kerch, but is the real thing, all Soviet accounts emphasized. Although it may have that secondary effect, it has been long and carefully prepared.

Masses of reserves who have been training just behind the front have gone into action for the first time, and assembled tanks and artillery are striking at the Germans after a preattack bombardment of Nazi airdromes in the southwest zone, the Russians said.

The broad drive across the Ukrainian plains overshadowed both the German advance on the narrow Kerch peninsula and a new, vigorous Russian campaign in the north for the further relief of besieged Leningrad.

Germans Abandon Piles of Supplies

"The Germans are sustaining heavy losses in men and materials," declared Red Star, official army paper, in discussing the Kharkov offensive. "Everything is being abandoned by the Germans in great quantities on the field of action."

The Soviet dispatches said Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's offensive thus appeared to have surprised the Germans, who have held Kharkov since last October, and not only forestalled a major German assault but to have laid the foundation for freeing Kharkov. All winter the city has been a major obstacle in the path of the general Soviet counter-drives.

While admitting a German break into Russian defences on Kerch, the Russians said they now are holding a new line in good order and are taking a heavy toll of the attackers. The Soviet Information Bureau said a "fierce battle continued" on the Kerch Peninsula. Red Star, official army paper, said the Germans had broken through in one sector, and urged the Kerch troops to check the drive.

"The Red army is keeping and will keep the initiative," declared Red Star.

Russian Army Full of Confidence

"The days of fierce new battle are beginning. The Red army is entering the battles full of strength and unflinching certainty in its victory . . . the most critical days are far behind."

It said the Germans might win temporary successes in some sectors, but the general situation is "firmly in our favor."

The Kerch Peninsula is a shortcut to the Caucasus and the oil the Germans so greatly desire. They captured the city of Kerch last November, but were unable to get across the narrow five-mile strait of Kerch, and Dec. 31 the Russians announced recapture of Kerch and much of the peninsula, which juts due eastward from the larger Crimean peninsula.

Break Nazi Lines Near Leningrad

On the Leningrad front, the Russian radio said today despite mud the Russian troops with tank and air support had broken the first German lines and captured many important positions in the secondary lines in a continuing advance.

(The Leningrad attacks coincided with reports from German sources in Stockholm that the Russians had removed 2,000,000 persons from the city during the winter.

(A correspondent for the Stockholm paper Allehanda wrote that the Germans in Finland claimed they could have taken Leningrad last autumn except that they felt they were unable to feed the population, which normally is about 3,000,000.

(This correspondent said the Germans asserted the population now had been reduced to "manageable proportions" and new Nazi troops and material are being concentrated for another assault.)

The Red army reported it was maintaining the initiative all along the line through Bryansk, and on the western Kalinin, northwestern Leningrad, Karelian and Arctic fronts.

Soviet pilots reported destruction of 12 German planes and damage to six in aerial encounters in the Arctic as the Germans attempted to attack shipping.

As Red troops advanced over boggy terrain on the Leningrad front, the Red air force reported it was dominating the skies in that area.

Attack in Crimea Only Nazi Feint?

(Reuters news agency said action on the Leningrad front was intensified despite adverse weather and that foreign observers in Moscow believed the German drive in the Crimea may be only a feint to cloak Hitler's real intentions. These quarters suggest Leningrad is a logical goal for the great invasion offensive long awaited, it said. The Russians, however, were reported to hold the initiative there.)

(A BBC broadcast recorded at New York today by CBS said the Russian Baltic fleet has left its base at Kronstadt, near Leningrad, "and is cruising in the Gulf of Finland," where the battleship Marat has shelled German positions along the coast.)

Germans Admit Donets Front Attacked

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German high command said today that in its Kerch Peninsula offensive "the pursuit of the beaten enemy is being relentlessly continued" while to the northeast "at several points on the Donets front, our troops are resisting strong enemy attacks supported by tanks."

(The latter actions coincided with Russian reports of breaching the Germans' first line before Kharkov.)

A Berlin radio interpretation of the daily communique said the Kerch action, in the Crimea, was in part a pursuit of forces which escaped encirclement in a German break through the Paratch position near the neck of the peninsula, about 50 miles short of Kerch strait.

(The German high communique gave no confirmation of claims from other Axis sources that they had captured the city of Kerch, on the peninsula's tip.)

The Berlin commentary spoke also of Germans mopping up a pocket at Akmon, freeing troops for "pursuit of the fleeing enemy."

"Occasional resistance, mostly by weak enemy forces, was speedily broken. The result of these victorious pursuit encounters is reflected by the number of prisoners and the amount of booty, which is continually increasing."

5 New Battleships For Japanese Fleet

LONDON (CP)—Japan has built or has under construction five battleships of more than 40,000 tons to oppose the main British and U.S. fleets, the new edition of Jane's Fighting Ships, authoritative naval annual, asserted today.

In addition to the Nissin and Takamatsu, listed in the previous edition, the new book names three more, the Kii, Owari and Tosa.

All these except the Nissin are named for the ancient provinces of Japan.

Stimson Warns of West Coast Raids

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the possibility of air raids on the west coast of the United States was "a real danger."

"They are on their toes out there, and very much on the alert," he said. "I am glad to see them alert, because I think there is a real danger."

Germans Claim Ship Sinkings

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP) — The German high command claimed today that Nazi submarines sank nine ships of a Britain-bound convoy in the Atlantic in an attack which lasted several days.

German submarines operating in American waters were credited with sinking an additional 12 ships totaling 82,000 tons, and also a patrol boat.

The high command claimed two British motor torpedo boats had been sunk off the Netherlands coast in action subsequent to a clash of light naval forces reported Wednesday, in which

Vancouver Incident

Japs Quieted By Fire Hose

VANCOUVER (CP) — A protest demonstration which military authorities said had been "gradually growing for three weeks" among a group of Japanese detained at the immigration building here appeared to have blown itself out today and all was quiet in the big waterfront structure which echoed with shouts and breaking glass Wednesday afternoon.

Authorities said the Japanese who staged the demonstration included those who had refused to be moved to work camps unless their families could accompany them. Their simmering indignation came to a boiling point when relatives and friends were forbidden to approach close enough to the building to conduct one German boat was acknowledged lost.

(All above enemy claims lack Allied confirmation.)

conversations as they had been doing in the past.

130 HELD

It was learned today 130 Japanese are detained in the building. Soldiers carrying nightsticks and with bayonets fixed on rifles slung over their shoulders, patrolled the area around the building with orders to keep Japanese off a ramp east of the building.

Wednesday the ramp was crowded with Japanese women and children who were excited onlookers during the outbreak. Before it occurred they had stood waving and calling out to friends and relatives held on the top floor of the big three-story brick building.

It was understood the men will be moved soon from the cells which they wrecked Wednesday when they tore fixtures from the walls and threw them from the windows. They were subdued when a fire hose was wielded by soldiers. City police brought teargas bombs to the building, but they were not used.

During the turmoil Japanese tore loose an iron grating and turned a fire hose on the guards below.

Scores of passersby were attracted to the scene by the shouting and crashing glass, but military guards kept the crowds back.

Austin C. Taylor, chairman of the B.C. Security Commission, charged with evacuation of British Columbia's 23,000 Japanese men, women and children, termed the disturbance "more playful than anything else."

He said that "some of the Japanese just got a little fed up about being kept in the building and got a little exuberant. There was more yelling than anything else."

He added that the Japanese housed at the building soon will be moved out to road camps in the interior of the province, where hundreds of Japanese already have been sent from B.C.'s vital coastal defence zone.

Some reports said the Japanese had torn plaster from the walls of the building and tossed it out of the broken windows during the disturbance, but Mr. Taylor termed these reports exaggerated.

St. Lawrence Survivors Tell Stories

No Gunners on Watch When Ship Torpedoed

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
MONTREAL (CP) — Bill Middladitch, 25-year-old naval gunner aboard a freighter sunk in the St. Lawrence River Monday night, said today that a German submarine attack in the river was "the last thing we expected."

"We had no gunners on watch the night we were sunk," Middladitch said on arriving here with 30 other officers and men who survived the sinking. "We never used watches in the St. Lawrence River and we were only due to start them the morning after we were sunk."

Middladitch, a resident of London, and another gunner, James Hulean, 24, of Wexley, Eng., said they were asleep when the torpedo struck amidships.

"We couldn't realize what had happened at first, but when we leaped out of bunks and stepped knee-deep into water we knew we must have been hit. Both of us managed to get into a lifeboat. There were 22 of us in a boat that was built to carry 12."

Only 1 Boat Got Away From Ship

Tommy Maxwell, a 21-year-old crewman, said the lifeboat was the only one of nine on the ship to get away. "The others were smashed to bits."

Tommy said he would not have minded the sinking so much if his friend Albert Eager, 17, of Gateshead, Eng., had not been reported missing after the crew reached shore.

Eager was at work in the engine room when the torpedo struck, Tommy said, and "I don't think he got away."

Jimmy Rudkin, 38, expressed belief the "Germans are looking for soft spots, because they can't get any cracks at our convoys. They are trying to sink unescorted ships."

For two Netherlands seamen it was the second torpedoing within seven weeks.

"It all happened before we could open our eyes," said six-footer O. Nuzink, who was backed up in his statements by H. A. A. Overzier, who like himself is a native of Rotterdam.

"We were only passengers aboard the ship, resting up from a torpedoing in the Atlantic just seven weeks ago," said Nuzink. "It was about 3 a.m. when the Nazi raider fired its torpedo and the boat just seemed to sink right away."

Overzier said there were four survivors of the previous sinking who were passengers with him, but one of them, Chief Officer W. Koning, was killed and the other, Second Engineer D. Bais, is reported missing.

G. Birkelaar, a Netherlands seaman, said the torpedo struck squarely amidships, trapping the men in the engine room. Cries of agony came from below as escaping steam scalded the men to death.

U-Boat Followed Ship 6 Miles

By ROBERT CLARKE
LEVIS, Que. (CP) — A German submarine that sank two freighters early this week in the St. Lawrence River was said today to have trailed one of its victims for six miles before it loosed a fatal torpedo and speculation was that the undersea raider might have sent a third ship to the bottom.

Thirty-one survivors of one of the two ships definitely known to have been sunk passed through here by train early this morning en route to Montreal. And at least two of them, one the captain and the other a gunner, thought it likely a third vessel had fallen prey to the Nazi U-boat although they admitted they had no official confirmation.

In Ottawa, naval headquarters stated officially today that no reports of any further sinkings beyond the original two had been received. Navy sources said no signals had been received to indicate that any other ship had been attacked.

Censorship prevented the name of the captain being given at this time.

I Died of Exposure, 11 Men Missing

The captain revealed there had been 43 men aboard his ship, which sank within six minutes of the time a single torpedo hit the vessel. One man died of exposure and another 11 are listed at present as missing. The captain said "they can still be alive only through a miracle."

He said other ships spent 2½ hours searching for the missing men around the spot where the ship was torpedoed, "without any success." There were no Canadians aboard the vessel. Twelve of the men aboard were British, while the remainder were Netherlands seamen.

The crewman who died from exposure while on way to port in a rescue ship was a Netherlands. Only one of the Britons aboard the vessel is missing—a 17-year-old trimmer who had helped with stoking duties.

The survivors en route to Montreal said they had no information concerning the sinking of the other freighter known definitely to have been sent to the bottom. Reports from a St. Lawrence River point Wednesday night said that ship was struck by two torpedoes and that the entire crew of 46 had reached shore in boats.

Sank So Fast No Shots Fired

Two British survivors interviewed as they passed through here were George Brown, 20, of Lincolnshire, and Leonard Clepson, 21, of Northamptonshire, both members of the freighter's gun crew. They said the ship had gone down "so fast" there had been no time to get in any shots at the submarine.

"We heard after we reached land that the submarine had followed us for six miles up the river," said Brown. Like the captain he expressed the opinion a third ship may have been torpedoed by the first enemy undersea raider to prowled river waters.

Brown and Clepson were in the icy St. Lawrence for about two hours before they were taken into a lifeboat dispatched by a rescue ship. They disclosed that only one lifeboat—actually a jolly boat, much smaller than a lifeboat and usually only used in quiet harbor waters to row from roadstead to pier—and a life raft got away safely from their ship.

Other survivors clutched timbers and packing cases.

22 Survivors In Jolly Boat

The jolly boat, built to accommodate only 13, was jammed with 22 survivors when the rescue ship picked it up.

"The men had to bail like but as fast as they'd get one bucketful of water out three more would come in," said Clepson. And Brown added: "The boys in the jolly boat no sooner got picked up than the boat sank."

Clepson said his ship was sunk close to land—"we could see the lights of the shore about six miles away." Although neither Brown nor Clepson saw the submarine, Brown said he had been told by the captain that the U-boat was less than 500 yards off when the torpedo was fired.

Survivors were picked up by two freighters following in the stricken vessel's wake. The steward and the second cook, said Brown, were quartered where the torpedo struck and he thought it likely they had been killed. However, they are listed as missing.

14 Crew Members Dead Or Missing

The first terse account of the German torpedoing of the two freighters in the St. Lawrence River Monday night was given Wednesday night at a river port by an unidentified officer of one of the ships.

He told a Canadian Press correspondent that 14 crewmen were dead or missing and there were 74 survivors.

He said the 46 crewmen on one ship got off in boats after two torpedoes had struck. Only 28 crewmen of the second ship, struck by a single torpedo, were saved, he said. Thirteen crewmen were missing and there was one known dead. The survivors were picked up by a third ship and taken to a nearby port.

GERMAN ESCAPES FOR THIRD TIME

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Police and military guards today were searching for Lieut. Frederick Oeser of the German air force for the third time since he was brought to the officers' prison camp near here last December.

Oeser escaped the camp with another German air force officer Wednesday night or early today. Their absence was discovered at morning roll call.

Both are small—among the smallest men in the camp. Everhardt Wildermuth, Oeser's companion in his latest attempt to reach freedom, is 5 feet 4½ ins. and Oeser about the same. Wildermuth is believed unable to speak English, but Oeser is known to speak English a little. Oeser's previous breaks came last Dec. 30 and March 12.

Danish 'Dismissals'

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP) — The Danish Foreign Ministry announced in Copenhagen today that five of its overseas representatives, including two in Canada, had been "dismissed" because they followed the example of Count Eduard Reventlow, former Danish minister in London, and gave notice they are no longer willing to subordinate themselves to the German-dominated Danish government.

It named them as Consul-General Brandt Holler and Vice-Consul Reschendorff in Montreal; Consul-General Count Schack and Vice-Consul Fischer in Sydney, Australia, and Consul Schultz in Johannesburg, Union of South Africa.

R.A.F. Knocks Out 2 German Ships

LONDON (CP) — Aircraft of the coastal command, continuing their efforts to prevent the Germans from using Norwegian coastal waters as shipping supply lines, bombed two ships Wednesday night, the Air Ministry announced today.

Two Hudson bombers gave the coup de grace to a large supply ship which had been run ashore near Vaagso, the ministry said. Bombs hit the ship and set it afire. It was described as a total wreck.

Another Hudson set fire to a heavily-laden supply ship as it was leaving Alesund. The ministry's news service said the pilot went down to sea level to make his attack in darkness and "leap-frogged over the ship as he let go his bombs."

"Looking back, the crew saw bombs explode on the ship near the stern," the news service said. "Debris flew in all directions and thick oily smoke rose and spread until the ship's outline was almost hidden."

When last seen the craft was listing heavily.

The Air Ministry disclosed that P.O. Mark Dennett, an American, was at the controls of one aircraft in the Vaagso attack. It was not immediately evident whether or not Canadian aviators had a hand in the engagement, but many Canadians are flying with the coastal command, in which is incorporated the R.C.A.F. "Demon Squadron" which last week knocked out seven ships from a convoy of 12 off the Netherlands coast.

Exchange Telegraph recorded a broadcast by the Bremen radio saying that "a British plane dropped leaflets in the northern suburbs of Paris this morning" and that it was shot down later by German fighters near Beauvais after a long chase.

Chess Champion Says

Allies to Win War With 'French Defence'

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Abe Yanofsky, 18-year-old Canadian chess champion from Winnipeg, is in Windsor for an exhibition and paused to view the present world conflict from a chess-player's standpoint.

The Allies are playing the "French defence" system. The Axis has selected the "Danish gambit" and there the Axis will be proved to have made its mistake, the youthful champion maintained.

For the war chess game selected by Hitler and his cohorts is flashy, brilliant and gives the first appearance of being a winning system of attack, Abe added. Pieces are sacrificed, irrespective of the cost of sacrifice, to gain an attack. For 15 moves the Danish gambit player appears to be winning. Then, suddenly, his opponent sweeps in and clears out.

The Axis had had 10 moves of its 15, Yanofsky estimated. Five more moves. Then—wham! The black has moved in, backed by accumulated power. The white is no more. Black has won decisively.

The Allies have chosen the one method of playing which begins passively. Black gives up his centre man in the beginning, but afterwards storms the centre of the board and regains it. This is the best defence, Yanofsky said.

Draft Board to Reconsider Case

VANCOUVER (CP)—E. E. Leery, chairman of the Vancouver Labor Council, told a meeting of the council that consideration will be given by national war services officials in Vancouver to an application for deferment of the training of Allan C. Wright, labor organizer. Mr. Wright was given notice to report for training while negotiating on behalf of employees of a government-owned plant here.

Leery said Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, member of the draft board, and "other members" had assured him that "every consideration" would be given to a request for deferment.

Wright, who is 30, was notified to prepare for army camp when he was organizing employees of the Dominion Bridge Company and Hamilton Bridge Company here.

(A demand was made in the House of Commons by Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., M.P. for Vancouver East, for an explanation of the circumstances under which Wright was given notice.)

Harold J. Pritchett, secretary, cautioned the council against assuming Wright's case was irregular until they knew "all the facts." He said he understood 24 men of 30 years of age had received notices in British Columbia.

Wright left here by plane for Ottawa Sunday.

Archbishop Harding To Retire Dec. 31

WINNIPEG (CP)—Archbishop M. T. M. Harding of Rupert's Land will retire as bishop of the diocese and archbishop of the Ecclesiastical Province of Rupert's Land Dec. 31, 1942, synod officials here announced. First intimation of the resignation was first made Tuesday night by Bishop W. H. Thomas of Brandon, senior bishop of the ecclesiastical province, at a meeting of the diocesan executive committee.

Licensed as a lay reader in London in 1882 by Rt. Rev. Frederick Temple, then Bishop of London, father of the present Archbishop of Canterbury, Malcolm McAdam Harding came as a missionary to Manitoba, Ont., in 1887 and has thus served in the ministry of the Church of England in Canada 55 years.

He moved west when the late Archbishop Robert Machray of Rupert's Land appointed him rector of Brandon in 1893. After 10 years' work there, he was named general missionary of the diocese and archdeacon of Assiniboia, with jurisdiction over 32,000 square miles of territory.

In 1909 he was elected coadjutor Bishop of Qu'Appelle and in 1911 succeeded to the see. When he left Qu'Appelle in 1934 the original 97 parishes had grown to 122, and the 110 churches to 261, with 400 other points at which services were held.

He became Archbishop of Rupert's Land in 1934.

'Frustration' Overseas

Power Finds Difficulties 'Canadianizing' Air Force

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Minister Power told the House of Commons that "nothing in my whole department is more dear to my heart than Canadianization of the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas."

But, the minister said, he had sense of "frustration" when he made efforts to that end.

The resistance came from the senior officers of the R.A.F. and also from some R.C.A.F. officers who had been trained with the R.A.F.

The minister was replying to a suggestion from Rev. T. C. Doughty, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., that steps be taken to make the Canadian air force overseas a separate entity, with its own general staff, rather than merely a part of the R.A.F.

He said he also had encountered some lack of enthusiasm on the part of the British Air Ministry, but he intended to persist in the policy.

"I should like to get all the support I can in Parliament. And I don't know when I have had a greater sense of frustration than in my attempts to Canadianize the Royal Canadian Air Force overseas."

The minister said there are arguments both for and against the policy of grouping Canadian airmen in all-Canadian squadrons rather than mixing them in the general pool of the R.A.F.

Some Canadian officers, brought up in the traditions of the R.A.F., are not sympathetic to the policy of segregating Canadians. An argument against segregation is that Canadian officers could not enjoy the same opportunities for promotion to high commands if Canadians are in their own formations as if they are dispersed through the R.A.F.

HOPES FOR MORE

Maj. Power said squadrons are attached to the Canadian Army for co-operation purposes and that he hopes there will be more.

The Air Minister told the House that air training in Canada is nearing the point where graduates will be prepared for actual warfare prior to going overseas instead of, as at present, completing operational training abroad.

Conservative House leader Hanson questioned if it were practicable to have an independent Canadian air force overseas and Maj. Power agreed it was not. But, the minister said, much could be done to group Canadians together and identify them as Canadians.

When Defence Minister Ralston was overseas last year an agreement had been reached to establish 25 Canadian squadrons in the R.A.F. in addition to three R.C.A.F. squadrons serving overseas. So far 22 of those squadrons had been established.

LONG STORY

"There is a long history of struggle and discussion connected with this matter," Maj. Power said. "I think we are on the way to where I know I want to go and where I hope the majority of this House and the people of this country want to go: that is, to make our squadrons overseas as much Canadian as possible."

The minister said he would like to see the Canadian airmen overseas with the same status as that held by American airmen now going to Britain. They would necessarily serve under R.A.F. command but would have a separate and distinct status.

"There is a feeling both in this country and beyond it that it is to the general good to mix people from all parts of the Empire," Mr. Power went on. "To that theory I subscribe to certain extent."

"On the other hand, I maintain that these men in squadrons are a team and it is easier to play on a team with men you know, men of your own kind, men from your own home town, than to play on a team with men from another town, even though you may be the best of friends and have the greatest respect for one another."

Operational difficulties stand in the way of a wholly integrated Canadian force overseas, he said. Bombers have to be attached to the bomber command, fighters to the fighter command and so on. The R.C.A.F. is "aiming at a bomber group for Canadians."

SUPPORT

Support for the minister's viewpoint was expressed by Col. A. J. Brooks, Conservative, Royal, N.B., who said Canadians should get credit for their achievements in the air.

Maj. Power said sometimes a raid was attributed to the R.A.F. when only one of three R.A.F. squadrons were in it, the others being Canadian. This was sound

Power's 'Joke' Not Popular

OTTAWA (CP)—Air Minister Power jokingly referred to infantrymen as "foot-sloggers" in the House of Commons Wednesday and ran into trouble with army officers of the first Great War.

The minister was describing dietetic difficulties of the R.C.A.F. and said "you can feed foot-sloggers built beef and pork and beans," but the "gentlemen of the R.C.A.F." are really students while they are in training and do not have the arduous activity of infantrymen.

George Cruickshank, Liberal, Fraser Valley, an infantry officer in the first Great War, said he resented the expression used by the minister to describe "the people who eventually will win this war."

He asked the minister if any of those in the women's division of the air force would be used to "replace" that other petticoat army in the Jackson Building (R.C.A.F. headquarters).

Maj. Power said the officers at headquarters were doing a good job and he resented the reference to them as a "petticoat army." Women were replacing many of the headquarters personnel, he said.

Coalition Success, Says Maitland

TORONTO (CP)—The "success" of coalition government in British Columbia illustrates that a national government in Canada would provide the only legislative machinery "under which the war can be carried on without misgivings," Hon. R. L. Maitland, B.C. Attorney-General, said here Wednesday.

"We can do without party advantage and power of patronage and, in consequence, we can give much better government," he told an interviewer.

Mr. Maitland was provincial leader of the Conservative Party prior to last autumn's general election which led to a coalition of Liberal and Conservative members under the premiership of Hon. John Hart, former Liberal Provincial Treasurer. C.C.F. members form the opposition.

"Since the election we have received stronger support from the

Two Offensives

OFFICIAL SPOKESMEN FOR THE SOVIET Union wasted no time in branding Nazi claims of great slaughter and much booty in the Kerch Peninsula as mainly lies. They admitted Russian troops had fallen back in good order under the impact of the first powerful assault by the enemy; this was not surprising and it is to be expected that further ground may yet be lost before the new battle reaches its climax. Not until German troops, with overwhelming support from the air, have safely crossed the narrow isthmus and established themselves on the eastern side of the Sea of Azov and the Black Sea will they be in a position to prepare the campaign for their ultimate objective—the oil of the Caucasus. Even if Kerch should fall to the enemy, he would still be nearly 100 miles from Krasnodar, and about 70 miles from the Black Sea port of Novorossiisk, the capture of which strategic points must follow terrible losses.

While Hitler's men appear to have gone all-out in the eastern Crimean sector, the Red Army is reported, as this is written, to be smashing at the very gates of Kharkov in an offensive of its own which might well—if successful—cause the southern part of the Wehrmacht considerable trouble long before it has consolidated such gains as it may make in the next day or so. The latest dispatch from Moscow indicates the fall of the first line of Nazi defenses guarding the "Pittsburgh of the Ukraine" with pressure being relentlessly applied on secondary positions, an offensive which Red Star, Russia's official army newspaper, asserts is causing the enemy heavy losses. And all Soviet accounts of this movement agree that this is not merely a diversionary action to lessen the Nazi pressure on Kerch but is the "real thing." Until these twin actions have developed further, however, the outcome remains in the realm of conjecture. One truth still stands out as clear as a pikestaff: Hitler must get oil, the oil of the Caucasus, or face disaster. The Fuehrer knows that the Russians know this as well as he does.

Pat for Mr. Morrison

WHEN RT. HON. HERBERT MORRISON threatened to suppress the London Daily Mirror, unless it mended its ways, he invited a good deal of trouble for himself. But when he "fired" a titled veteran of the Civil Service, in the person of Sir Warren Norman Fenwick Fisher, for allowing a team to travel 278 miles by motor-coach to play a football match, he drew hearty commendation from a Conservative member of the London County Council, who has written to the Manchester Guardian to air his views on democracy versus bureaucracy. Sir Warren was called from retirement at the end of 1940 as a Special Commissioner under the Home Secretary's jurisdiction.

It appears that Sir Warren objected to Mr. Morrison's action—described by the latter's champion as "in defence of the nation's war effort and of those gallant seamen who risk their lives to bring petrol to this country"—and told the Home Secretary and Minister for Home Security, also in a letter to the Guardian, that "a man who has been in the Civil Service for over 20 years does not want schooling from anyone in political life." In other words, a public official is not subject to the direction of democratically-appointed representatives of the people, or, at least, that is the deduction from Sir Warren Fisher's complaint.

The correspondence reveals the attitude of mind of the bureaucrat, and the London County Council member does not mince matters, for he thinks that instead of criticizing Mr. Morrison, "we ought to commend him for his courageous stand and for striking this major blow in what I hope will be a great campaign to check the growing power of bureaucracy . . . a condition of affairs which has weighed down, hampered and hindered our war effort."

The Pontiff's Message

POPE PIUS XII SPOKE TO THE WORLD yesterday and urged statesmen to make a "peace of justice and moderation—even if this should not comply with the full aspirations of all." These are noble sentiments. Millions of people throughout the universe crave such a peace. But the Pontiff's words have no meaning at this juncture. No doubt some will find it difficult to harmonize his message with an incident which took place in Vatican City last Saturday—Italy's "Empire Day." Not that His Holiness was tempted to emerge from his neutral zone to participate in the celebrations in which King Victor and Premier Mussolini took part. Dictator and monarch belong to another world altogether. But when the Pope received the new Japanese ambassador to the Holy See, and accepted his credentials, the men of the Axis were naturally pleased.

The establishment of diplomatic relations between Nippon and the neutral territory over which His Holiness exercises his legal sovereignty is regarded as an initial success for the gangsters, despite the probability that the Pope's policy may serve some useful purpose in protecting Roman Catholic interests and prisoners-of-war of all classes. But it would seem that such action, in the long run, will add to rather than subtract from the terrible difficulties with which the Pontiff is confronted. After the Japanese ambassador had left to take up his new post, one London daily voiced its misgivings this way:

"Christendom, to put it mildly, is bewildered to learn that the Holy See is prepared to establish diplomatic relations with Japan. We shall not attempt to probe the reasons for this development, but we do say that millions of Christians await with anxious interest a clarifying statement from the Pope. In the meantime, His Holiness may be able to exercise a restraining influence, for it is unthinkable that he views with anything but horror the devilish methods of warfare favored by the Japanese armies."

As we have already suggested in these columns, pressure has been applied to the Vatican from three directions. First, from those who think the Pope should be neutral, but should throw all his influence to the United Nations; second, those, especially some Italian prelates, who are of the opinion he should compromise with the Axis; and, third, those traditionalists who are strongly of the view that the Vatican's neutrality must at all costs be strengthened forthwith, and that the military and political situation in which all the belligerents now find themselves make this quite practical.

With these conflicting forces to contend with, however, the Pontiff must find it puzzling to tell the world how a "peace of justice and moderation" is to be obtained so long as Mussolini, Hitler and Hirohito remain consecrated to the task of obliterating everything for which His Holiness stands. Such a peace can only follow the "final defeat of the Nazi tyranny."

Where Is Gen. Giraud?

SMALL WONDER THE OLIGARCHY IN Berlin has offered a reward of 100,000 marks for the return of the French General Henri Giraud who recently escaped from a Nazi prison camp at Koenigstein in Saxony. He is an extremely able general, and, to make matters worse in German eyes, he escaped their clutches after he had been put under lock and key in the first Great War. Of course the world is manifesting an absorbing interest in his whereabouts—what he has learned during his incarceration, and to whom, and when, he will be persuaded to tell what has come his way.

Reports had it the other day that General Giraud had arrived in Vichy from Switzerland, and one London newspaper confidently proclaimed he gained his freedom with the assistance of one or two Nazi generals who are supposed to be working in collusion with a few industrialists whose object is the establishment of a Catholic bloc to unseat Hitler. The yarn may sound fantastic; but in this most extraordinary of all wars we have already discovered that almost anything can and does happen.

Where the men of Berlin made their mistake, of course, was in not keeping General Giraud in chains. He was the man, it will be recalled, who was suddenly called upon nearly two years ago to supersede General Corap—who failed at Sedan—and given the task of rallying the badly-shaken French forces at this vital breach in the Allied lines a few days after the Nazi war machine had rolled into the Low Countries. In the first Great War he was recalled from Morocco, where he had distinguished himself as one of Marshal Lyautey's promising young officers; and he fought like a tiger in Champagne. His battalion recaptured Fort Malmaison from the Germans. Left for dead on the field, he was dragged away into an enemy prison. Speaking German like a native, somehow or other he got hold of a butcher's togs and made his way back to his unit. After the Armistice he had a notable part in suppressing the Riff revolt; then he succeeded Marshal Lyautey in command of the French troops in Morocco. And before his 1940 capture on the Meuse he had held back superior German armored divisions.

Not only is General Giraud known as an able strategist but also for his popularity with all ranks in the French army. His personal qualities, his resourcefulness, courage and gay imperturbability are attributes which at this stage of the great conflict will scarcely make him popular with the recently-installed Quisling-in-Chief at Vichy. But perhaps even Laval will hesitate—if he can get his hands on him—before turning him over to his Nazi lord and master.

It will not be long now until the children are out of school and mother will be out of luck.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Strange things are happening to our economic thinking. Here is the government of Quebec announcing that it plans a provincially-owned hydro-electric system, involving the taking over of great private power companies, and not even in St. James Street is there as much as a murmur. Twenty years ago, even 10 or five years ago, such an announcement in Quebec would have been called revolutionary, with St. James Street seeing a dark plot to change the name of Montreal to Leninville or Marxville.

Thus is the pattern of our lives, and the pattern of our thinking, being made over for us. The old shibboleths are rapidly losing their meaning, the old war-cries beginning to sound far-off and faint; the heresy of yesterday becomes the commonplace of today.

Let none of us, no matter how conservative our instincts, be too much alarmed by it. Matthew Arnold once wrote of men standing between two worlds: "One dead, the other struggling to be born." Today our pre-war world is dead, and another world, the nature of which we cannot yet know, is struggling to be born. We can only surmise that it will be different from the world our own generation knew, hoping at the same time that it will be braver, and wiser.

War's Human Toll

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

Both the Soviet and Nazi war offices have from time to time put out official figures of their own and enemy casualties. These run into such dizzy figures that they would confuse the outsider in any event. But the outsider also knows that deception is a deliberate part of war and that we never get the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, until the war is over.

Mr. Churchill's statement Sunday is therefore all the more interesting. For he badly declares that German losses in the Russian war to date have exceeded the total German losses in the whole war of 1914-1918.

The Encyclopedia Britannica gives the official figures for German losses in the last war as 1,773,700 killed with 7,142,558 killed, wounded and missing. If it is true, therefore, that the German casualties are as high as Mr. Churchill believes them to be, we can understand the increasing reports of rumbles from within Germany itself.

In this war as in the last, the Russian people have done most of the dying. From 1914 to 1918 their casualty lists showed 9,150,000. Of these 1,790,000 were killed.

We often forget our debt to Russia from the last war. We are unlikely to do so to the same degree in this.

BRITISH LOSSES

Up till May 12, the total losses in the whole British Empire in this war have been 183,500. These include 48,973 killed; 46,363 wounded, prisoners 58,458 and missing 29,756.

In other words, the entire British army, navy and air force has not yet had as many men killed in this war as the Canadian Corps alone had in the last conflict.

In World War 1 British Empire losses were 908,371 killed, with a total casualty list of 3,190,235.

Total figures for U.S. losses are not yet available for this war. The U.S. navy, however, has lost 2,991 killed, 2,495 missing, and 907 wounded. In killed and missing, this is more than all losses suffered in all previous wars by the U.S. navy.

In the last war total U.S. casualties were 350,300.

In World War 1 total casualties of France were 6,160,800. Of these about a million and a third were killed outright. In this war few were killed, but millions were captured and are still kept by Hitler as virtual slaves.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST

The civilian casualties in this war have been much heavier than in the previous conflict. Indications are that they will be heavier still. The world is just entering the period when the deadly effects of mass-bombing will be felt to the full. As against this man-made slaughter, however, is the peculiar fact that the general health of the people of Britain has so far confounded all of the prophets and put the experts to rout. Diseases of children have been drastically reduced. The first quarter of 1941 tuberculosis decreased by 7 per cent. Cases of infectious diseases are the lowest on record. Measles have almost disappeared.

Britain has long lagged behind North America in fighting diphtheria but is now making up for lost time. A nation-wide campaign for immunization has cut down the peace-time figure of 60,000 cases per year to 47,000. Britain still realizes in this matter on persuasion and not compulsion. But the campaign is making swift progress as the results for the immunized districts contrast so sharply with the laggards. Consequently public education is rapid.

MEMORIZING POETRY

From Toronto Star

Noting that Sir William Mulock has been memorizing poetry even while traveling in his motor car, the Ottawa Journal cites the case of a Canadian lawyer who "can recite off-hand the whole of Paradise Lost." But one can imagine more useful accomplishments. There is so much lovely poetry to be memorized that it seems hardly worth while to let one poem of 12 "books" which occupies more than 230 pages in most editions monopolize anyone's attention. Sir William wisely concentrates upon shorter poems than that.

ADOLF IN A TRAP

From New York Times

Adolf Hitler's latest speech reminded Representative Wilbur Cartwright, Oklahoma Democrat, of a story. In his regular letter to the folks back home the Congressman told it last week, thus:

Grandpappy Morgan, a hillbilly, wandered into the woods and failed to return for supper, so young Tolliver was sent to look for him. He found him standing in the bushes.

"It's dark, Grandpa," the boy said.

"Yep."

"Supper time, Grandpa."

"Yep."

"Wal, ain't you comin' home?"

"Nope."

"Why ain't ye?"

"Standin' in a bar trap."

Rags are needed for national defence. Maybe this is your chance to "give the shirt off your back."

WHAT HITLER WOULD SAY

From London Statesman and Nation

I hear from our radio talks to Germany that Hitler's private income, derived from the Nazi publishing company, which publishes "Mein Kampf" and all the party newspapers, and from the Hitler levy on the wage bill of German industry, is calculated to amount to no less than £10,000,000 per annum. This is his personal income; some of it is spent in huge presents or bribes. He is certainly the greatest war profiteer in history. If he were in England he would be subject to £9,745,000 in come tax annually.

BEARDED BRITAIN
Letter to London Daily Telegraph
Sir: Now that soap is in short supply, is it not every true patriot's duty to grow a beard and moustache? He will save not only soap but much valuable time. Again, is it not a duty for all heads of departments employing women to lift the ban on unstocked legs? This, too, would save them money and a vast amount of time spent in darning, and save us all the sight of much-patched hose. Yours faithfully,

40 Years Together

C. J. Clarke

M. Aylsworth

D. McEachern

Forty years of service with one organization is not unusual. But the occasion is unique when three men who started as boys together and now occupy the leading positions with the same institutions celebrate their 40th anniversary together. Morley Aylsworth, General Manager; Chas. J. Clarke, Treasurer, and Danbert McEachern, Secretary, of The Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation and The Canada Trust Company joined the staffs in 1902. Since that time the combined assets of these institutions have increased from $8,000,000 to more than $80,000,000.

School Board

School Trustees Attack City's Bonus Scale

The city's cost-of-living bonus scheme, which knocks 50 cents a month off the benefits certain lower-paid employees previously secured from the bonus plan put into force to help them last year, was assailed by members of the city School Board Wednesday night.

"As I understand it, that is less than Vancouver gives its employees, in spite of its less favorable condition financially," remarked Trustee F. G. Mulliner, chairman of the board, as the educational body learned the details of the new city scheme.

"That's less than some get now," added Trustee J. S. McMillan, as he referred to low-paid employees who previously received $5.50 a month bonus and would get only $5 under the new plan. He thought the board should press for restoration of the bonus, to $5.50, if nothing more.

The issue was referred to the finance committee for a recommendation.

All Canada should contribute to a war-insurance scheme for the benefit of any point which suffered raid damage, Trustee Austin Curtis said as the board reviewed opinion to the effect citizens would be required to pay for adequate insurance protection.

"I think the whole of Canada should be assessed, and damaged structures replaced from the national funds," Trustee Curtis said. "It's not our fault these conditions arose. Why should we have to pay for it? If all Canada paid, the assessment would be only a few cents."

The finance committee and board secretary were instructed to keep the board informed on war-insurance measures.

P. H. Elliott, principal of Victoria College, was renominated

4-Day Program For Children

A four-day program of activity was outlined for city school student over the Empire Day-Victoria Day period by Trustee Mrs. A. S. Christie at Wednesday night's school board meeting.

Festivities will start Friday, May 22, when the children assemble for their annual track meet at the Athletic Park.

On Saturday they may participate in I.O.D.E. Empire Day ceremonies at the Parliament Buildings, although such participation will be entirely voluntary. A special band will be secured for the occasion in view of the fact the school musical group is disrupted by the Saturday employment of some of the members.

On Sunday a number will take part in the Youth Rally at Christ Church Cathedral at 3. A high school choir will sing the anthem and hymns, and representative groups from high schools, elementary schools, Sea Cadets, Air Cadets, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides will attend.

On Monday evening the schools will present one of the highlights of the holiday period in the form of a pageant of Victory at Macdonald Park. Parent-teacher organizations will assist in the latter.

Early Rationing

Maids of honor attached to the royal court in the reign of Henry VIII had the following rations:

Breakfast—a gallon of beer and a serving of beef; dinner—a gallon of beer and a piece of beef; afternoon "snack"—a gallon of ale and a handful of bread; supper—a gallon of wine, mess of porridge, and a piece of mutton; after dinner—half a gallon of wine and a piece of bread.

Time Students On Trips Home

Of all the students attending city grade schools, only 57 require more than half an hour to reach home from school. Another 320 take between a quarter and a half an hour and the remainder less than 15 minutes. Trustee Mrs. A. S. Christie told the City School Board Wednesday night in a report on a survey taken for A.R.P. purposes.

At the High School 102 take more than half an hour, 163 between a quarter and half an hour and the remainder less than a quarter hour, the report added.

In case of a raid children will be sent home if sufficient warning is given. If the warning is inadequate, they will be dispersed in small groups in charge of their teachers since distribution is reportedly the most efficient way to care for young people in such emergencies.

The board left finger-printing of children as a means of identification an open question. It regarded the move, suggested by the United Organizations Security Council, sympathetically and promised further consideration if effective ways and means could be devised for meeting the expense, doing the work and utilizing the records when completed.

Revised regulations for caring for pupils in case of raids were in the hands of the teachers, the board was told.

BABY'S UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "Tummy" is often easily upset. It is easily righted again, too, if you know just how to do it. Let Mrs. M. S. Sharp, of London, Ont., tell you: "Baby's Own Tablets are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach, during teething time or when a cold is coming on. They work quickly yet gently to carry away poisons and promote quiet sleep. Walking floors at night is unknown in our home."

And Mrs. W. R. Sharp says: "I nursed my baby shortly after being alarmed over a motor accident and that upset her almost to the point of convulsions. I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she soon stopped crying, went to sleep and when she awoke was her own good self again."

Equally effective for diarrhoea, colic, teething troubles, simple croup, constipation and simple fever. Sweet-tasting, easy to take, prompt in their action yet harmless. ## Weddings

WHITE-RODMAN

A quiet wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening in St. John's Church, Quadra Street, when Rev. G. Biddle united in marriage Muriel Rosalie, fifth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Rodman, Granville Avenue, and Mr. Harold Orville White, second son of Mrs. R. McGinnis, Vancouver, and the late Mr. E. L. White.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a teal blue silk crepe frock fashioned with a ruffled neckline, complemented by a blue and pink floral hat and veil and beige accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Miss Victoria Rodman acted as her sister's bridesmaid in a pale blue corded silk dress fashioned with a lace yoke and bolero jacket, a rose turban and white accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of pink carnations. Mr. Jack Knowles was best man. Following the ceremony a reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Langley, Lansdowne Road, sister of the bride, where Mrs. Rodman, in a becoming printed coral and grey silk dress with hat to match, and Mrs. Laycock, aunt of the groom, in a two-tone dress of blue and black, with a black hat trimmed with mauve flowers, received the guests. They both wore corsage bouquets of carnations. For going away the bride donned an old rose colored coat with a blond fur collar over her wedding ensemble. After a honeymoon on the mainland, the young couple will make their home in Vancouver. Among the gifts received was a table, household linen and a silver sandwich tray from former associates of the bride in David Spencer Ltd.

The Golden Link Evening Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Bone, 313 Vancouver Street, with Miss Lohian's circle in charge. Mrs. W. Hudson took the devotional, followed by a sing-song of favorite hymns led by Mrs. Wright. Miss Renwick spoke on stewardship of the church. Mrs. Sargison read a timely item on temperance. Professor E. S. Farr spoke on Ecclesiastes, chapter 3, "Balance or Being rather than Doing." Miss M. Wright moved a vote of thanks. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, the evening of June 3.

A social meeting for members of the Auxiliary to the Canadian Forestry Corps (Overseas) will be held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Field, 749 Market Street, Friday afternoon from 2.30 till 5.

Social and Personal

Mrs. W. C. Woodward was hostess today at a luncheon party at Government House, covers being laid for 27 at a table beautifully arranged with tulips and other early summer flowers.

Miss Peter Lampman of Victoria is spending a few days in Vancouver en route home from a visit to Bella Coule.

Miss Fanta Taft of Vancouver arrived in the city today to take up a governmental position. She will reside with Miss Nan Hutton at 1132 Richardson Street.

Ladies' committee of the Open Door Spiritualist Church will hold a silver tea at 714 Cormorant Street, Saturday, 2.30 till 5. Mrs. Swan and Mrs. Mayell will be the hostesses. There will be readers in attendance.

Mrs. Pat O'Neill, Mrs. Art Corry and Mrs. Thomas Newnam were joint hostesses at the home of Mrs. Newnam, 305 Huntington Place, Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Joyce Stevens, whose marriage to Petty Officer Norman G. Stevens, R.C.N., will take place Saturday evening. The bride-to-be is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stevens, presented with corsage bouquets of pink roses and pink carnations respectively by Miss Doreen Auchterlonie. The gifts of pyrex were concealed in a mock wedding cake. The evening was spent playing games, winners being Mrs. B. Mitchell, Mrs. W. Mitchell and Miss Jeanie Corry. A buffet supper was served from a table lighted by pink candles in silver holders. Other invited guests were: Mesdames P. Honess, Gordon Smith, J. Bryant, Alvin Moore, Musgrave, F. Wilkinson, B. Bryant, M. Simms, T. Bryant, J. Bryant Jr., M. Couch, A. Farey, W. Bryant, Rose Couch, J. Macintosh, B. Armstrong and the Misses Betty Honess, Jean Mitchell, Mary Wilkinson, Clare Wilkinson, Eileen Couch, Marguerite Auchterlonie, Doreen Couch and Master Eric Moore.

The Misses Barbara Munro and Jean Wilson were hostesses Tuesday evening at a shower given in honor of Mrs. Wilfred Fraser, the former Irene Brockington, at the home of Mrs. C. Munro, 101 Stephen Avenue. The honored guest was presented with a corsage of mauve sweet peas and white swanlions. Clues from the streamers of an umbrella faintly decorated in pastel shades guided the bride on an amusing treasure hunt, the "prize" being a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. H. G. Brockington, mother of the bride, and Mrs. W. C. Fraser, mother of the groom, received corsages of mauve stocks and white swanlions and white carnations and lily of the valley respectively. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Wm. H. Hayward and Mrs. A. E. Bowden. Mrs. Brockington poured tea from a lace-covered table, the centerpiece being a low silver bowl of yellow tulips, illuminated by tall yellow tapers. Other invited guests were: Mesdames R. Wilson, C. Munro, W. Sturrock, Frank Garrison, Frank Stevens, H. McClung, S. K. Smith, N. Bouchard, B. Huot and C. Godfrey and the Misses Audrey Fraser, Frances Borde, Inez Jeune, Gladys Cook, Eileen Langan and Anne Andrews.

Victoria Heads True Blue Lodge

LADNER, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. E. Aspinwall, Victoria, was named Associated Grand Deputy Mistress of the Loyal True Blue Association Grand Lodge for British Columbia at the 33rd annual session held here. Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Abbotsford, was re-elected Grand Mistress by acclamation.

Esquimalt W.I. met Tuesday evening with Mrs. A. Mossop presiding. Ways and means convenor reported two card games during the month. It was decided to hold the midsummer tea and sale of work in June. Members will meet every two weeks for sewing. Next meeting will be held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. McDuff. A 500 card game will be held Thursday evening at 8.15 in the Parish Hall, proceeds to be given to the Red Cross.

Edna Jaques, Poet, Making Gunpowder in Ontario

Deciding that in this world conflict the sword is mightier than the pen, Mrs. Edna Jaques, former Victorian and well-known Canadian poet, has put aside her pen for the time being and is now making gunpowder in an Ontario munitions plant.

TO EARN OUR PEACE

British Columbians who have enjoyed her homespun philosophy and humor through the medium of her poems and in talks given before the Women's Canadian Club, will be amazed at the amazing determination of this frail little woman, as expressed in her own story, "We Are Workers," now appearing in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine. She says in part:

"It all began months ago for me. I had felt it coming on for a long time, a rising tide inside of myself that seemed to grow stronger every day I lived and would not be denied. I must do more about the war, I must work for it with my two hands and feet and back. I wanted to sweat and toil and suffer and help win it, so when I am very old I can feel satisfied in my own heart that I helped a little bit to earn our peace."

"I spoke of it to my friends and they reminded me that I was doing much—writing articles, poetry, lecturing, buying bonds cheering people up, sewing for the Red Cross. But I'd look at my hands, useless and idle, and it wasn't enough. And then one day it was all over. I knew that I'd have to work with my two hands, that I must get my teeth rough and sore and calloused before I'd be satisfied. Well, that was the beginning and one day I was on a street car, headed for the employment office of a war plant."

IN DANGER ZONE

After describing the formalities necessary to undergo before one becomes a munition worker, Mrs. Jaques describes her first experience in the "danger zone."

"It scares you a bit at first. You have visions of being hurled through space in the wake of an explosion, but you soon forget it and handle your dangerous stuff with all the nonchalance of a country woman setting a batch of bread. No silk or rayon is allowed, no combs, bobby pins or metallic objects permitted in this explosion area because of the danger from sparks. The air is filled with explosive dust in spite of the air-conditioning."

"All tables and machines are grounded, 30 feet down under the quiet earth, and every door has a copper plate on it that is grounded and will draw all the static electricity out of a worker. You are required to touch these plates as you enter or leave your shop, always. Lights are sealed and there are no electric outlets. There are no windows—light is all artificial."

MANY TYPES ON JOB

Describing the many types who work side by side with her, "miners from Timmins and Val d'Or, roustabouts from Montreal and Quebec, cowpunchers from Alberta, dust bowl farmers, waitresses, clerks, shopkeepers, middle-aged women glad to earn a few extra dollars to tide them along, the destitute and the oppressed," Mrs. Jaques continues: "Looking across the canteen at 2 a.m. is like looking at a slice of life, a generous, thrilling slice, raw, magnificent, terrible. You'll find every sort of woman here—saints, sinners, refugees, school-teachers, office workers, their white hands stained with gunpowder or yellow as saffron from tetryl. Some of their faces have broken out into festering sores from the acid fumes that drift in the air like poison gas."

"Perhaps we are munition

Women's Army Corps To Serve Overseas

VANCOUVER (CP)—Maj. Gen. H. F. G. Letson, Adjutant-General of the Canadian army, said here today, on his arrival by plane from Ottawa, that units of the Canadian Women's Army Corps will be sent overseas in the near future.

Maj. Gen. Letson is here on an inspection tour and will leave Thursday night for Victoria.

He said that units of the Women's Army Corps which will be sent to England will carry on work done by the corps in Canada and so release men to fighting units.

Maj. Gen. Letson said there had been no further developments of an announcement by Defence Minister Ralston that women might be trained to man searchlights and anti-aircraft batteries on the Pacific coast.

LOWERS AGE LIMIT

It was announced in Ottawa Wednesday that the Canadian Women's Army Corps, which used to limit enlistment to women 21 years of age and up, now is accepting recruits over the age of 18. C.W.A.C. officials said today.

In a story yesterday on the new Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service, the Canadian Press referred to the C.W.A.C. and said its minimum age limit was 22.

However, the 18-year rule has been in effect for some weeks, officials said today, although no official announcement of the change has been made.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. has made final arrangements for "Parish Pandemonium," the spring entertainment to be held Tuesday evening. Marjorie Bullock is general convener; Eileen Ellis will be in charge of refreshments.

Junior Women's Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital will meet Monday in the nurses' home at 7.45 for nomination of officers.

Wrens, Here Within Month, May Marry in Service

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA. (CP) — Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service will be recruited within a month, it was announced at a press conference here yesterday.

Superintendent Joan Carpenter of the British Women's Royal Naval Service, who is in Canada to organize a sister group, told the conference she hadn't many facts to give out about the new women's service, but she is conferring constantly with Canadian naval authorities.

She said that at the moment the Wrens, Canadian version, aren't ready to receive applications. There will be notices in the press as to when recruiting will begin. Probably a basic group of 50 women would be chosen from the first applications for outstanding qualities of leadership and personality.

ENTER AS RATINGS

Superintendent Carpenter said they will become ratings and will be put through an initial training at a headquarters, probably in Ottawa, where several large houses are under consideration as possible centres. From these pioneers will be chosen the officers, and eventually the commandant of the whole service. When this happens Superintendent Carpenter and her two assistants, Chief Officer Dorothy Isherwood and Second Officer Elizabeth Mary Sturdee, will return to Britain.

A Canadian girl who enlists won't lose any of her femininity while she's a Wren.

"Our service is the most feminine of all services," said Superintendent Carpenter as she remarked that the naval girls were not encouraged to become heel-walkers, masculine persons.

Probably the first uniform issued will be a summer one of smart, shirtwaist dress with stitched linen hat. These will be blue.

USE GOLD BRAID

The officer wears navy suits of fine blue serge with gold buttons with their insignia on their sleeves in lighter blue. The braid rankings will be the same as naval officers.

It was explained that all Canadian Wrens will have to enlist as ratings, and promotions will be on merit. No one will be accepted into the service as an officer.

Girls may marry in the service, but that doesn't release them. In England recruits are accepted between 17½ and 43, but probably 18 will be the age limit in Canada.

V.O.N. Visits Reach New High in April

Visits made by the Victorian Order of Nurses during the month of April reached a new high, with a total of 1,439, according to reports heard at the board meeting Tuesday, with the president, Mrs. Russell B. Horton, in the chair.

In the absence of Miss A. Creasor, the supervisor, Miss Empey, V.O.N., gave the monthly review. Her figures included 601 bedside visits, 528 instructive, 34 calls on tuberculosis patients and 276 on cases of communicable disease. There were 255 new patients listed during April, and 59 visits made to families of men in the services.

Mrs. Horton announced that the Lenten sewing meetings, under the convenship of Mrs. G. B. Williams, had resulted in a good supply of sterilized surgical dressings for use by the nurses in case of emergency.

Mrs. George Hall reported on the V.O.N. cars; Mrs. Alice Straith, who, as V.O.N. representative attended the lecture by Mrs. John Scroggie, under the auspices of the Local Council of Women, gave an interesting review; Mrs. Dudley Markham reported on the meeting of the Council of Social Agencies, which dealt with the problems of juvenile delinquency and unmarried mothers.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Reg Antrobus, 3557 Saanich Road, entertained Monday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Brenda Maureen, on her third birthday. Assisted by her mother, Mrs. G. H. Swainson, 718 Pine Street, Mrs. Antrobus served tea from a prettily-decorated table centred with the birthday cake. The invited guests were Donny Lidgate, Rita and John Oliver, Mary and Barbara Copeland, Barbara Jill and Joan Bonnell, Diane, June and Carol Oliver, Beverley Barker, June Miller, Dorothy Pednault, Dorothy and Lorna Antrobus, Diane and Robert Millis, Jack Antrobus, Joan and Johnny Lilley, Kathleen Jarvie and Mesdames Bill Lidgate, Jack Oliver, P. Bonnell, Tony Oliver, Tibson, John Antrobus, R. B. Millis, Percy Jarvie.

1,000,000 Motorists Hit By New Tire Order

Cannot Buy, Sell, Borrow, Lend, Give, Exchange Usable Tire; No Retreads

OTTAWA (CP)—An estimated 1,000,000 or more Canadian motorists are prohibited from obtaining any usable automobile tires or tubes or retreading services under a drastic tire rationing order announced today by Munitions Minister Howe.

The order is effective at midnight tonight. It does these things:

1. Limits for the first time the purchase of retreaded tires, used tires, used tubes and retreading services;

2. Tightens the existing control over new tires and tubes;

3. Determines that every tire dealer will start tomorrow with a clean order sheet by making invalid all existing commitments or agreements for the retail sales of tires, tubes or retreading services;

4. Sets up three classes of persons eligible to buy tires, on a sliding scale, based on usefulness of each vehicle to the war effort, and rules out all other motorists as ineligible to buy any usable tire or retreading services;

5. Provides that no person may buy or sell, borrow or lend, give away or receive as a gift, mortgage, barter, exchange, cut, burn, destroy, or in any other way dispose of a usable tire or tube, except for legal sales as permitted by the order—thus prohibiting any two or more motorists from pooling their tires to equip one of their vehicles;

6. Fixes a ceiling on the prices of all usable tires and on retreading.

STATEMENTS LATER

Today's announcement by Mr. Howe does not give all the details of the new tire rationing order. The minister did not make public for instance, the price ceiling which has been established. Departmental spokesmen said the missing information will be given in a series of brief statements to be issued in the immediate future.

Some weeks ago, Mr. Howe warned Canadian motorists that their present tires were the last they would see until some time after the war ends. He emphasized that point in the long statement revealing issuance of the tire rationing order.

"Canada's rubber shortage is

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, signs the 31-page tire rationing order at his desk in Ottawa. The drastic new regulations become effective tomorrow.

more serious than ever," said Mr. Howe. "Synthetic production will not begin before many months, and it will not benefit the civilian user. Not a single ounce of synthetic rubber will be released for the making of civilian tires, or any other civilian article."

"Essential vehicles must be kept in service, and the rest of us, until the war is over, must do the best we can with the tires or tubes now in our possession."

Under the rationing order, motor vehicles are divided into A, B and C classes.

CLASS A

Upon proof of necessity, and under authority of a ration permit obtainable from a tire rationing representative in any office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board, new tires, new retreaded tires, and retreading services may be bought for vehicles of Class A. Used tires and used tubes may also be bought for such vehicles under authority of a purchase certificate which can be filled out by any authorized tire dealer. The conditions are:

1. A vehicle driven at least 75 per cent in mileage for the professional use of a physician, surgeon, visiting nurse or veterinarian.

2. A vehicle operated by any regularly practicing clergyman, who serves two or more congregations more than three miles apart, or who serves a sparsely settled area.

3. An ambulance, or a hearse or any vehicle used exclusively for funeral purposes.

4. Vehicles used exclusively for fire fighting, police services, garbage disposal, mail and railway express services.

5. A private vehicle operated by an employee of a fire or police service and used 75 per cent in mileage for such service.

6. A private vehicle operated by an employee of a public utility and used 75 per cent or more in mileage for construction or maintenance work.

7. A bus or other conveyance licensed and used exclusively for public transportation, for transportation of students and teachers, or from school, for transportation of employees to and from any industrial or mining establishment or construction project, or for transportation of members of the armed services on authorized movements which cannot be performed adequately by other transportation facilities.

8. A truck operated exclusively for the transportation of ice and fuel.

9. A truck or large trailer used exclusively for the transportation of materials and equipment for mechanical, structural, or highway maintenance and repair, and for construction of factories, houses, buildings, roads, highways, dams and other facilities, or for maintenance and repair of electrical, plumbing, and heating equipment and of machines, but not for the repair of electrical and other household appliances.

10. A truck for transporting waste and scrap materials.

11. A truck or large trailer for transporting raw materials, semi-manufactured goods, and finished products including farm products and foods, but not for delivery to the home.

12. Farm tractors and harvester combines, other than automobiles and trucks, for the operation of which tires and tubes are essential.

13. Industrial, mining and construction equipment, for the operation of which tires and tubes are essential. (Used tires and tubes, or retreaded tires, must be used if possible in this group.)

CLASS B

Upon proof of necessity, and under authority of a ration permit, retreaded tires and retreading services may be purchased for vehicles in this class. Used tires and tubes may also be bought with a purchase certificate filled out in co-operation with any authorized tire dealer.

Category B vehicles are not generally eligible for new tires.

The conditions are:

1. A vehicle used 75 per cent or more in mileage to transport five or more employees, including the driver, to and from work in a war plant, or to and from work in any other essential industry, but only where other transportation facilities are not available. (For certain war industries Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson may authorize new tires and new tubes for such vehicles.)

2. A vehicle owned by a person manufacturing munitions, or in some essential industry, and used exclusively for transporting engineers, technicians and other employees between or within plants where other transportation facilities are not available.

3. A private vehicle used 75 per cent or more in mileage to carry mail.

4. A private vehicle used 75 per cent or more in mileage by a federal or provincial government employee for transporting equipment too heavy to carry otherwise, or for health, sanitation, or essential war work.

5. A private vehicle used 75 per cent or more in mileage by a full-time officer, field secretary or nurse of the Red Cross.

6. A private vehicle used by a full-time employee of the National War Finance Committee, headed by G. W. Spinney of Montreal.

7. A private vehicle used 75 per cent in mileage for the professional duties of an inspector of the Inspections Board of the United Kingdom and Canada.

8. A vehicle owned by a company operating a flying school under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

9. An official vehicle of the United Kingdom or any other accredited Air Force Mission, or Empire Liaison mission.

10. A vehicle operated by a minister of a foreign country, a high commissioner, including the accredited representative of South Africa, or a director or acting director of the International Labor Office.

11. A vehicle operated exclusively as a taxi, but not a "drive yourself" vehicle.

12. A passenger vehicle or trailer used principally for the transportation of produce and supplies to and from his farm by a person whose principal occupation is farming, and who owns no truck.

13. A garage tow truck, or any truck not otherwise provided for.

CLASS C

Upon proof of necessity, and without the need of applying to a tire rationing representative, owners of vehicles in this class or in a higher class, may buy used tires and used tubes direct from any authorized dealer. Before the sale is made, a purchase certificate must be completed between the buyer and the dealer, and any false statement made in the certificate will be subject to severe penalties. Vehicles in this class are not eligible for new tires or tubes, retreaded tires or retreading services. The conditions are:

1. A horse-drawn vehicle or farm implement for the operation of which tires are essential.

2. Industrial, mining and construction equipment for the operation of which tires are essential but for which used tires are adequate.

3. A foreign car which has been in Canada for more than a week, and for which a tire or tube is essential to its continued operation.

4. A vehicle operated 75 per cent or more in mileage for the professional duties of a federal or provincial government employee.

5. A vehicle operated 75 per cent or more in mileage for the duties of members of the diplomatic corps, members of the High Commissioners' offices, consuls-general of career, consuls of career, vice-consuls of career, trade commissioners, assistant trade commissioners, members of the international staff of the International Labor Office, a land surveyor, or a farm or food products inspector, an incapacitated individual, a newspaper reporter, a press photographer, a dentist or optometrist who serves more than one community, a bond or life insurance salesman, a salvage or scrap buyer or collector, a judge or other judicial officer, a sheriff or other law enforcement officer, a service man for repairs of farm machinery, a service man who repairs office and factory equipment and machinery, a rural schoolteacher, a Christian Science healer, a drugless healer, or a rural undertaker.

NO-TIRE CLASS

Persons not listed in one of the three categories are not permitted to buy any type of tire or tube. It is estimated 1,000,000 or more motorists whose driving is considered nonessential fall into the no-tire class.

Generally speaking, motor-vehicle operators allowed most gasoline under the gasoline rationing set-up which went into effect last April 1 get most preferred treatment under the new tire rationing regulations. Nonessential drivers who are limited to about 5,400 miles of driving under the gasoline regulations are the ones mainly banned from buying any type of tire.

The new tire order was issued by Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson, approved by R. C. Berkshaw, chairman of the War-time Industries Control Board, and concurred in by Donald Gordon, chairman of the War-time Prices and Trade Board.

Under its strict priority provisions, a dealer who has two orders and who cannot fill both at once must fill first the order placed by the motor vehicle owner who falls in the higher class.

AUTHORIZED PERSONS

The only persons permitted to buy or sell usable tires or tubes, or retreading services, are authorized dealers, wholesalers or manufacturers.

Last January drastic restrictions were placed on the sale of new tires, casings and tubes, with purchasers limited to persons carrying on service considered vital to the nation in wartime; but until today's announcement by Mr. Howe used tires and tubes, retreaded tires and retreading services were not under control.

The new order establishes these rules which must be obeyed by every tire dealer:

1. He must ascertain that the would-be buyer is in a class eligible to make a purchase;

2. He must ascertain that the purchaser would be unable to operate his vehicle without the tire, tube or retreading service;

3. He must determine that the purchaser has a real need—that he has no tire or tube not in use or on a vehicle of lower class or on an ineligible vehicle, which would be safely used;

4. He must see that his customer turns in without allowance a tire or tube of corresponding size and type from a running wheel or single spare of his vehicle;

5. He must observe strict priority, giving every preference to vehicle owners in the higher class;

6. He must have proper written authorization for each sale.

Purchasers of new and used tires and tubes, retreaded tires and retreading services must obtain special "ration permits" from so-called tire rationing representatives, to be located in any office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board. Used tires and tubes may be bought upon proof of necessity—and without a tire ration permit—from any authorized tire dealer.

Millers said it couldn't be done

YET HERE IT IS! White flour with natural Vitamin B Complex of the Whole Wheat kept in!

THIS NEW white flour holds wheat's natural B vitamins just as nature stored them in the nourishing wheat germ!

"Cold Roll" milling has made it possible. This new process mills most of the germ along with the starchy part of the wheat. Only the bran is removed.

The result is Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour—with about five times as much of vitamin B<sub>1</sub> (thiamin) as in regular white "patent" flour!

Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour provides not less than 400 International Units of vitamin B<sub>1</sub> per pound. It is also richer in riboflavin and other recognized members of the vitamin B complex.

And remember, these are vitamins naturally present in whole grain—they are not specially mixed-in vitamins.

You'll like the richer, more wheathy flavor this white flour lends to your breads and cakes. You'll like the difference in its color, not "chalk" white, but an appetizing, creamy-type white.

Vitamin B Kitchen Craft White Flour requires no change in your recipes. It is all-purpose home-type white flour of highest quality. Milled in Canada of best Canadian wheats. Guaranteed to give successful results and to keep at least 2 years under normal conditions.

40 Canadian Boys Bombing Japs On Burma Front

By M. H. HALTON
CALCUTTA (Special)—There are more than 40 Canadian fighter and bombing pilots in the fast growing company of British and American aeronauts now guarding the approaches to India.

Some of them sit in this room as I write, relaxing for a few hours after days of bombing raids into Burma and arduous days of rescue work, and I have met dozens of others.

"From small towns in a far land they came..." and many of them have fought in Britain, Greece, the Middle East, Malaya and Burma. Grand and gallant young men from places like Kenora and Edmonton and Lennoxville are now fighting the Japanese over the steaming swamps of Burma. I like to watch them from the corner of my eye and listen to their laughter. They are seasoned knights; they have their accolade; civilization and the cause owes them a debt. But they are still unaffected and unpretentious Canadians, boys who have "set the game beyond the prize," talking the strange argot of the air.

SHOES, SHIPS, SEALING WAX

"I tell you that guy hasn't got a clue..." "I'm chesed off. I haven't heard from my girl in five months..." "You say the sweetest things, baby..." "You should have seen Bill making a play for that gal at the Porto Rico last night..." "Say, can't you get something in the Canadian papers about this sergeant-pilot business?" "Imagine them telling me I can't eat in the Grand Hotel..." "Remember that night in Montreal?"

Some of these Canadians have fought in France, Norway, Greece, North Africa, Malaya. Ten are in one famous bomber squadron. There is Sergeant-Pilot John Chapman of Winnipeg who went down alone and destroyed a power station in Bangkok. There is Flight-Lieut. George Harper, D.F.C., who has been on a hundred operations in the western desert, in Malaya, Java, Sumatra and Burma. There is a redoubtable team consisting of Pilot Officer Jim Purves of Halifax and his observer, Bill Clearnhue of Montreal. There are Sergeant-Pilot Lorne Tapp of Lennoxville and Sergeant-Observer Bill Campbell of Paris, Ont.

BROUGHT OUT WOUNDED

In another bomber squadron here, No. 45, are four Canadian pilots and five Canadian gunners and observers. They are Sergeant-Pilot R. J. Armstrong, Vancouver; Sergeant-Pilot F. L. Butcher, Solagirth, Man.; Sergeant-Pilot N. T. Taylor, Edmonton; Sergeant-Pilot F. C. Thompson, Tweed, Ont.; Air Gunner W. A. Gaudet, Montague, P.E.I.; Sergeant-Observer J. R. Hurley, North Bay; Sergeant-Observer J. A. Kirkpatrick, Vancouver; and Flight-Sergeant E. B. Lulford, Saskatoon. In a fighter squadron here are five Canadian pilots.

One Canadian pilot made four trips in one day from Assam to Burma, bringing out wounded soldiers, and was twice attacked by enemy fighters. You have to fly over that country to know what a feat this was.

Our number of these young men grows. When we have enough of them—Britons, Americans and Canadians—and enough aircraft, the Japanese affair will be liquidated. There aren't enough yet.

Saanich to Buy 1 Ambulance Now

The Saanich A.R.P. fund committee Wednesday night set aside $1,750 to purchase a one-ton panel delivery truck to be fitted as an ambulance and, subject to the approval of the Priorities Board at Ottawa, to call later for tenders for a second truck. The ambulance will carry two stretchers and provide accommodation for four or five sitting cases.

W. A. Greene, municipal clerk, who is acting as campaign treasurer, said the fund now totaled $4,293 in cash and pledges, the fund objective being $4,000. He said further pledges are expected to come in.

The remainder of the fund after the purchase of two ambulances will be used to outfit 25 panel delivery trucks with stretchers. The trucks will be made available during an emergency. If any surplus remains it will be used to purchase A.R.P. equipment.

The sub-committee, consisting of Reeve E. C. Warren, George Randall, Dr. J. L. Gayton, E. A. Bleathman and Councillor George Austin, will call for the tenders for the second ambulance.

Reeve Warren thanked the canvassers for their efforts. He said an audited statement of the campaign will be published. He asked canvassers to return subscription books to their ward chairmen.

Employees of the municipality will hold their annual ball at the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, May 22. The proceeds will go to the ambulance committee.

Dr. Whitehouse Conference Head

REV. DR. A. E. WHITEHOUSE

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. A. E. Whitehouse of Victoria was elected president of the B.C. Conference of the United Church of Canada on the third ballot at the conference here late Wednesday.

Rev. Charles Finnmere was elected secretary of the B.C. Conference, and Rev. Francis Stevens, one of the younger ministers of the church and now a pastor at West Vancouver, was returned to his fifth year of office as treasurer.

Selection of a new assistant secretary was left in the hands of the newly-appointed secretary and will be announced later.

Mr. Whitehouse is a native of Birmingham, England, who came to Canada in 1907. He entered the Methodist ministry in Saskatchewan and in 1925 accepted the call of the B.C. Conference to come to the Pentecost United Church from Regina. In 1930 he moved to Vancouver and later went to the Metropolitan United Church at Victoria.

CHINA'S LEADERSHIP

Addressing the conference, Rev. A. A. Fulton, United Church missionary to China who is serving for the duration of the war as pastor at Creston, B.C., said he believed one of the indirect works of Christian missions in the Orient "has been our political and military salvation in a vital theatre of war at the present time."

He stated Japan knew every detail of China's military strength and geography needed for a speedy victory.

"But Japan did not count on the type of leadership and character she encountered in China," he said, adding that the Japanese "ran up against" Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek, who could not be bought or intimidated.

"Japanese aggression turned China into a united people," Mr. Fulton said. "The people rose and fought back. The explanation lay in the fact China had awakened to realize she had a leader who had convictions."

"Chiang Kai-shek was baptized into the Christian church in 1931. Madame Chiang comes from a Christian family," he said. "A remarkable percentage of their leaders are Christian, and I am convinced the course of history has been determined by the integrity of character produced in these people by the Christian faith."

CALL FOR YOUNG MEN

Other speakers at Wednesday night's session were Rev. W. G. Challis of Greenwood, B.C., and Rev. Dr. George Dorey of Toronto.

Mr. Challis said the home mission field needed young men who were willing to spend as much time in the saddle as in their car and who could sleep where darkness overtook them on the trails.

Dr. Dorey told of the social service work of the church, and the part the church was playing in the present crisis.

MORE VOLUNTEERS IN AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA, (AAP)—Army Minister Francis Forde announced today—Lieut. Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, commander of Allied land forces, would issue an order allowing members of Australia's conscripted home militia to volunteer in the Australian Imperial Force, which is mustered for service anywhere in the world.

A large number of militiamen are expected to volunteer, and in this way reduce the present parliamentary controversy over the Defence Act, which forbids militiamen being sent outside Australian territory.

Such a move also would eliminate many operational difficulties when the time comes to send an Australian army overseas on the offensive against Japan.

Parliamentary opposition parties recently unsuccessfully urged the government to change the Defence Act in order to compel the militia to serve anywhere in the world.

Air Minister Arthur Drakeford said selection boards are visiting all militia camps interviewing applicants for enlistment in the air force. He explained many thousands in the militia were men who had previously enlisted in the air force but had not been called up.

Reserve Army Chief On Inspection Tour

Director-General of the Reserve Army, Maj. Gen. B. W. Brown, D.S.O., will visit British Columbia later this month in the course of a tour of inspection of western Canada.

Leaving Ottawa Monday last, he will visit in turn Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver, inspecting Reserve Army units and conferring with officers commanding reserve formations. He is expected to reach Vancouver Monday next and will probably visit Victoria before returning east.

Liquor Commissioners Talked Curtailment

After meeting liquor commissioners of the other eight provinces and Dominion government officials, B.C. Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy returned Wednesday from Toronto. He traveled both ways by plane.

Asked if curtailment of liquor for the war's duration was mentioned, Mr. Kennedy said "it was generally discussed, but nothing definite was done."

He said he did not think it advisable to go into details at the moment.

The commissioners formed themselves into the Associated Liquor Boards of Canada, to aid in discussion of problems common to all and to see what savings might be effected.

The B.C. Liquor Board is now completing arrangements to move shortly from Belmont House into Temple Building, which is being remodelled and redecorated.

Another call for veterans of the first Great War has been issued by recruiting officers throughout Canada. A total of 694 men are needed for the Veterans' Guard of Canada, qualifications being service in the first Great War, with an age limit of 50 years and categories of A, B and C. Pay allowances are similar to those for the Canadian Active Army.

LISTEN—ANYONE CAN BE SURE OF FLAKY PIE CRUST BY CRISCO'S NEW METHOD!

BIGGEST PIE NEWS EVER! YOU'RE SURE OF FLAKY PIE CRUST
ONLY CRISCO CONTAINS NEW PASTRY SUCCESS SECRET

Grand news! At last you can be sure your pies will turn out flaky and tender!

HERE'S WHY—pure, all-vegetable Crisco is different. Right in Crisco is a pastry success secret found in no other shortening you can buy. And Crisco's amazing new Pastry Method ends the two big causes of tough pastry—using too much water and over-handling the dough.

NO MORE GUESSWORK! Unlike cook-book recipes, Crisco's own new Pastry Method tells you exactly how much water to use. And you mix your ingredients in a brand-new easy way. That's why Crisco dough isn't sticky—it's easy to roll out!

And what flaky, tender pie comes out of the oven! You'll be proud as Punch of your pastry success! Won't you make a flaky, tender, digestible Crisco pie this very day?

Try Crisco's Own New Pastry Method—ends 2 big causes of tough crust!

Notice—new method ends guesswork about amount of water to use... Too much water is first big cause of tough pastry... so follow Crisco's method exactly, and be sure!

ONE-CRUST MEASUREMENTS: Sift 1½ cups flour and ½ teaspoon salt into bowl. Take out ¼ cup of this flour and mix with 3 tablespoons water to form a paste.

Now add 1½ cups Crisco to remaining flour (1¼ cups); cut Crisco in until the pieces are the size of small peas.

Next, add flour-paste to Crisco-flour mixture. Mix thoroughly until the dough comes together and can be shaped into a ball. Roll out—bake shell in hot oven (325° F.) about 12 minutes. (Note: Crisco's brand-new way in mix ingredients gives you a dough that's easy to handle, easy to roll out! No need to over-handle the dough—the second big cause of tough pastry.)

LEMON CHIFFON PIE

1 package 3 eggs
1 cup sugar 3 tablespoons
flavored gelatin lemon juice
1½ cups boiling water 1 teaspoon grated
lemon rind 1 lemon rind

1½ cups boiling water 1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add salt. Beat egg yolks with half the sugar; add hot gelatin mixture slowly, stirring constantly; add lemon juice and rind. Chill until it begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually beating in remaining sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture. Fill baked Crisco pie shell. Chill until firm. Decorate with whipped cream and chopped nuts.

Oak Bay A.R.P. Improves in Test

Practically every type of "incident" and "casualty" was dealt with by Oak Bay A.R.P. organization during a two-hour practice in which 300 took part Wednesday night. According to A.R.P. officials, except for a few mix-ups the practice was successful.

A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal civilian protection officer, said the demonstration Wednesday night, which was in the north district, showed a decided improvement over the last practice, held in Oak Bay South. The new central control room, which features a soundproof room, worked well, Mr. Musgrave said.

Fifteen major incidents with 16 "casualties" brought all branches of the A.R.P. organization into play. The new Oak Bay ambulance went into service last night for the first time.

Auxiliary firemen laid 2,500 feet of hose from a private pool to fight a "serious fire" at the Uplands Golf Club. At the Royal Victoria Yacht Club they used a tank truck and pumped water from the sea, winning the praise of Fire Chief Ed Claydars.

All casualties brought to the auxiliary hospital at the Willows School received excellent treatment at the hospital and at the scene of the "incident," Dr. Denton Holmes reported.

A.R.P. heads assisting Mr. Musgrave at the central control room were W. R. Ridington, district warden of Oak Bay North; O. A. Butters, chief warden, and C. H. Rutherford, district warden of Oak Bay South.

Niagara Hero Dies

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—William Red Hill, 54, veteran riverman and hero of the Niagara district, died suddenly here in a hospital today.

Hill recovered 177 bodies from the Niagara River and had been awarded three Humane Society medals for saving lives. The first one he received at the age of seven for rescuing his sister from a burning house. He received his second medal in 1912 for rescuing Ignatius Roth from an ice floe in the Niagara River, and his third medal for his part in the rescue of two men from a scow in the river just above the falls.

In 1910 Hill was dared to go through the Niagara rapids in a barrel in which Bobby Leach had successfully gone over the falls. Hill accepted the dare, was swirled through the rapids and safely reached shore at Lewiston, N.Y.

5.30—Sgt. Lane on Air

Sgt. M. D. Lane of Victoria is scheduled to speak over the "Greetings from the Beaver Club" program, carried by station CBC, Vancouver, Sunday morning at 9.30.

The Home League of the Victoria West Corps will give a concert at 8 Friday evening in the Salvation Army Hall, Catherine and Edward Streets. Mrs. Adjutant A. Dale of Vancouver will preside and will also speak at the week-end meetings, which will be conducted by the members of the Home League.

Mother's Union Entertains Services

A social and entertainment to all His Majesties Forces was sponsored by the Mothers' Union, James Bay, in Cathedral Hall, Niagara Street. The enrolling members, Mrs. E. Milden, who was piped to the stage by Pipe Major Jessie Pollock and Nancy Chalmers with a background of the forces, was presented with a mystery parcel and a bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley by little Doreen Shirriff.

A toast was sung, "Mother Machree," by the audience standing, accompanied at the piano by F. W. Harvey, followed by community singing accompanied by Mrs. Cockrell and Mrs. C. Warn. Major F. V. Longstaff welcomed the troops and called for three cheers for the convenor, Zoe Harvey.

The following artists took part in the program: Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, represented by Shirley Anderson in a tap dance; Barbara McVie, comedy song; Enid Middleton, song and dance; all accompanied by Mrs. Cockrell; sword dance, Nancy Chalmers, accompanied by Pipe Major Jessie Pollock on bagpipes; Peggy McVie and Jessie Pollock, Mexican dance; Joy Merriman, ventriloquist, in several clever numbers; J. Oakman, tenor; Miss Elaine Harte, soprano; Mrs. F. Noel, soprano; V. Barker, monologues; Mrs. C. Warn and Mrs. R. Braybrook, accompanists. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Perry, Mrs. Ingalls, Mrs. McIntyre, Mrs. Kermod and Mrs. Stewart, followed by a dance until 11 when the audience sang Auld Lang Syne. The troops showing their appreciation by giving three cheers to their hosts.

This might be YOUR LITTLE ONE who will need the Red Cross

BOMBED FROM THEIR HOMES, many robbed of fathers and mothers, the children of Britain have reason to bless the Canadian Red Cross.

Hear them: "I am ten and a half. I have been through a lot of blitzes. Thank you for the sweets and jam." ... "The sweets were lovely after all we've been through. Never mind, we must be brave."

And the adults: "The clothing was a Godsend. My little girl had no coat to wear." ... "I lost my husband in an air raid and cannot buy my little girl what she has been used to." ... "I have written my husband in the army. He says to thank you, it makes his job easier." ... "God keep you safe. My little boys send their love to all the children of Canada."

Simple words that say so much! This is YOUR job. YOUR money is needed to meet the growing need. Open your heart and your purse strings—GIVE generously.

'Medicine Man' Practices Against Criminal Code

No action can be taken on reported "medicine man" practices among Indians of the Kispiox Indian Reserve, near Smithers, until the full facts of the case are learned, provincial police headquarters in Victoria said today.

Police at Smithers said Wednesday night they were awaiting instructions from Victoria, but headquarters here have not yet been advised of the case.

According to a Smithers report 10 Indian "medicine doctors" were found by police practicing weird rites over a girl ill with tuberculosis.

The 10 took turns dancing around the patient in a small shack, in time to two drums, beaten by members of the tribe, while others chanted ancient tunes. Garbed in a wolven cape, an apron of moose skin adorned with animal teeth and pieces of hoof, a coronet of bear claws and a crown adorned with feathers, the head medicine man danced around the girl, letting the feathers fall over the patient.

Then he brushed off the feathers. This gesture is said by the Indians to brush away the illness, too. Police confiscated the paraphernalia.

It is 11 years since the police dealt with a similar case. In 1931 two Indians of the same tribe, living at Hazelton, were charged with witchcraft, convicted and given suspended sentence.

Such "medicine man" practices are contrary to the Criminal Code section dealing with sorcery, witchcraft and enchantment.

Normal Students To Memorial Hall

Victoria Normal School will move in September into Memorial Hall, at Vancouver and Rockland. The government has completed arrangements for the lease of the building from the Anglican Church for approximately $200 a month.

No structural alterations will be necessary and accommodation will be provided for 100 students. Classrooms are already in existence and there are gymnasium, auditorium and kitchens which the students may use.

Whether normal students will be brought here from up-country, as has been the policy in the past, is now being decided by the Department of Education. There is a strong probability they will be sent to Vancouver Normal.

Since they were forced to leave their Mount Toimie building some months ago, normal pupils have been "roosting" in the Shrine Temple. The Mount Toimie building is now being turned into a military hospital.

Normal classes at the Shrine will terminate May 28 and the 59 women and six men students, during June, will gain practical teaching experience in the classrooms of Greater Victoria schools under the eyes of veteran teachers.

On Inspection Tour

Major-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, M.T., V.D., adjutant-general posted to National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, will arrive in Victoria Friday morning to inspect Vancouver Island's defences and military units.

His tour will take in the inspection Friday of headquarters of Military District No. 11 and the Pacific Command, the Officers' Training Camp at Gordon Head, the recruiting depot, the Esquimalt military hospital, Canadian Women's Army Corps and other units.

Saturday, Major-Gen. Letson will proceed to Nanaimo to inspect units at Camp Nanaimo, continuing to Vancouver Saturday evening. At 4:30 Sunday afternoon, Major-Gen. Letson will give a 10-minute radio address over C.B.R. The topic of his address has not been announced.

Tea Gardens Closed

The Japanese Tea Gardens at the Gorge, which have been a summer attraction for Victorians for 30 years, will be closed this year, the B.C. Electric Railway Company announced today.

The company said the Japanese within the company's park are no longer in charge.

Acts of vandalism against park buildings and property, which are owned by the company, have taken place recently, company officials said. Further depredations will be prosecuted.

TOWN TOPICS

The wardens attached to St. Louis Post, A.R.P., will meet in the headquarters room at 7 Friday.

Donald Thom, in police court today on a charge of being in possession of documents purporting to be National Registration cards, pleaded guilty and was remanded until Friday.

Hon. Victor Podolski, Minister Plenipotentiary of Poland to Canada, will address the Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel Monday at 12:15. "Why We Must Win" will be his topic.

Five motorists were fined $2.50 each in police court today on parking convictions. Two were fined $10 each for speeding and another $10 for exceeding 15 miles per hour in a school zone.

Bishop H. E. Sexton announces that the collection of the special Ascension Day service at St. John's Church tonight at 8, will be donated to the Red Cross. Dean Swanson of Vancouver will be the preacher.

The Saskatchewan Concert Party, under the direction of Miss Nellie Small, will present a concert at the meeting of the U.C.T. Victoria Council, Saturday evening, in the Knights of Pythias Hall. Members and friends are invited to attend.

A fire that broke out at 3 Wednesday morning, destroyed the upholstery and ceiling lining of G. A. MacDonald's auto while parked in his garage at 1661 Hollywood Crescent. The fire department responded to the call and extinguished the blaze before it destroyed the car.

Donald Leckie, 2640 Cedar Hill Road, received emergency treatment for slight head injuries and a cut right leg at the Jubilee Hospital, Wednesday, after his bicycle had been in a collision at the corner of Cedar Hill Road and Haultain with a car driven by Russell Jack Bisson, 3143 Quadra Street. The accident occurred at 5:27. Leckie was taken home after being treated.

A Stewart & Hudson Lumber Company truck slipped its brakes at 11:20 Wednesday night at Johnson and Quadra, crossed Quadra at an angle, jumped the sidewalk and crashed into the showroom window of Jones Brothers' service station at Yates and Quadra Streets. The truck, before it ran away, was in the driveway of Hughes Gas Station.

Fire Chief Alex Munroe is appealing for volunteer firemen for the Victoria West and Burrard districts. Both districts are undermanned and half a dozen fire fighters are needed in each area. Those interested in a complete course on fire fighting are asked by the chief to register at his office at the fire department on Cormorant Street. Instruction will be given two nights weekly.

By telegraph, Rentals Administrator De Mara from Ottawa today gave the following ruling on the case of Mr. Andros and the Harrogate:

"It would be my opinion that if he could satisfy the court that the closing was bona fide, he would not be required by the Rentals Orders to carry on operation after the period for which he had already accepted rent."

APPOINTMENTS

J. R. Copeland of Ft. Ware has been appointed issuer of marriage licenses, in place of Henry C. Borbridge, who has left the district.

Constable R. J. Brotherton of Port Renfrew has been appointed marriage commissioner and district registrar of births, marriages and deaths, succeeding Constable A. E. Vickers.

At Mission, Constable Sydney Patenden takes the place of Cpl. John Renner as marriage commissioner and vital statistics registrar.

Dr. J. A. McDonald has been resigned as marriage commissioner at Anxox.

Marriage commissioners receive 10 per cent of all fees issued for marriage licenses and registrars receive 25 cents for each statutory return of vital statistics.

Near Half-way Mark In Red Cross Drive

Collections in Victoria's Canadian Red Cross drive for $97,000 climbed towards the half-way mark today with $39,000 reported in early this morning.

While the amount was considered satisfactory, officials of the campaign called for an all-out effort on the part of every citizen, young and old, to add his or her gift towards the fund urgently needed to continue the international work to relieve human suffering.

When the campaign is over, an announcement from headquarters here said, the local committee wishes to be able to say every Victorian, man, woman and child, did his or her part. The money must be raised if the help which is given without distinction to race, creed or color is to continue, headquarters said.

Officials issued a warning today to the effect unauthorized persons have solicited donations in the James Bay, Rockland Avenue and Carey Road districts and urged those prepared to make donations to demand the official receipt as well as to insist on producing of credentials by the canvasser. Steps are being taken to check the activities of those who have been collecting without authority.

As Victorians expressed their appreciation of the Red Cross activities in a financial way, the local society continued with plans for an open house at its new distributing centre, 1162 McClure St., Saturday from 10 to 5. Those inspecting the premises will be shown the manner in which parcels are made up and prepared for shipment to those in need from the Victoria branch.

Except for Delay Test Successful

Except for an hour breakdown in ambulance service, which the officer in charge said he could not explain, the A.R.P. practice in the Foul Bay area Wednesday night was described today by Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, as being successful.

Taking part in the exercise were a total of 254 persons connected with the A.R.P. organization and its auxiliary services. Lt-Gen. E. C. Ashton, district warden for 2A East, was in charge.

One "dead" and four other "casualties" were featured in nine major incidents, at which decontamination and rescue squads, ambulance and police services attended. In addition 12 cases were treated at first aid points and posts.

The practice was carried out as if accompanied with all the horrors of an actual air raid. An auto collision, burst water mains, blocked roads, crippled electric cables, an electric short circuit in a home, wrecked homes and high explosive bomb craters were attended to by various A.R.P. services.

As in the first district practice in James Bay last week, plumbers, electricians, police, engineers, wrecking squads, auxiliary firemen, ambulance units, first aid workers, hospital attendants, nurses and doctors took part.

Centre of the "raid" was the Margaret Jenkins School, where the district control room had been installed. Inspector Bishop said the practice, through the central control, was carried out more smoothly this time than last.

The cards show the rate for single occupancy, double occupancy, for three persons, four persons and for more than four persons.

The card must show the rate by the day, week or month with board, and the tariff by day, week or month with meals.

This regulation is covered under the new Order No. 108 of the board.

R.C.A.F. Band to Aid In Red Cross Campaign

The R.C.A.F. band will play at View and Broad Friday at 2:30 in support of the current Red Cross drive, campaign headquarters announced today.

The appearance will be the third by service bands which have played to draw attention to the society's call for funds.

Earlier in the week the navy and army bands were heard.

Shawnigan Lake

SHAWNIGAN LAKE—A special meeting of the Shawnigan Lake unit committee was held Monday afternoon. Mr. Page, unit convener of the Red Cross campaign, appealed for volunteer canvassers and names suggested were Mesdames Sutton, Maitland, Cotford, Jones, Miss Furlong, and the secretary, Mr. Garrard. Speaking to the meeting regarding the transferring of the unit's headquarters from Victoria to Duncan, D. V. Kier, chief A.R.P. warden for Malahat-Shawnigan districts, stressed the importance of speed in case of an emergency and the difference a few miles might make. It was decided to make this change for the purpose of the A.R.P.

Cobbie Hill-Shawnigan branch of the Catholic Women's League met at the home of Mrs. A. Kingsley, Shawnigan Lake, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Kingsley, first vice-president, presided in the unavoidable absence of the president, Mrs. McEwan. Plans were made for holding a home-cooking stall at the Cobbie Hill Red Cross garden fete to be held next month.

At Cuidad Guzman, Mexico, although no damage was caused, frightened residents rushed into the streets as the earth shocks passed over.

Bruce Humber Is After Hitler

EDMONTON (CP)—A.C.2 Bruce Humber of Victoria, a potential pilot in training at the Manning depot here, is hoping he will get another chance to meet Hitler, to whom he was introduced when he visited Berlin as a member of the Canadian Olympic team in 1936.

Humber shook hands with Hitler, whom he described as "a funny little guy with baggy pants," but if they ever meet again he promises to get a stranglehold on his neck.

"It's six years since I was there," Humber said, "and I don't remember all the details. But I do remember he was wearing a sloppy uniform and everybody made a lot of wisecracks under their breath. This, of course, wasn't in keeping with the atmosphere."

Humber, a sprinter, is about six feet and he had to look "away down" on Hitler. "I must say I was impressed to think that this little guy could have such a hold on the German people. And there was no doubt about that."

The airman thinks that Hitler's greatest asset is his ability to speak. When all the nations lined their contestants in front of him on the opening day, Adolf delivered a long speech in German and "even though we couldn't understand a word he was saying, we did feel the power of his voice."

Graduate of the University of Washington, Humber competed in the 100 and 200-metre sprints and also took part in the relay race. He is the son of Mrs. Gertrude Humber of Victoria.

Vocational Training

OTTAWA (CP)—When the war is over and the provinces and municipalities find they have to cut their expenditures, the first thing they will start on will be education, J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F., York South, told the House of Commons committee on vocational training.

The public is anxious to make provision for vocational training so a solid foundation can be laid for the post-war period, he said. The committee had before it legislation to enable the Dominion to co-operate with the provinces in large-scale vocational training over a long period.

SHAW COMEDY ON YORK BILL

It took Gabriel Pascal six months of preparation and intensive scouting before he assembled the all-star cast for the filming of his great production of George Bernard Shaw's brilliant comedy, "Major Barbara," which is currently at the York Theatre, through United Artists release.

The cast is headed by Wendy Hiller, Robert Morley and Rex Harrison. Miss Hiller is the brilliant star who won international acclaim for her performance in "Pygmalion," while Morley is remembered for his brilliant work as the unhappy Louis XVI opposite Norma Shearer in "Marie Antoinette." Rex Harrison, who is known as England's Gary Cooper, plays the romantic lead opposite Miss Hiller. The supporting cast, which also reads like a Who's Who of filmdom, features Emlyn Williams, Marie Lohr, Penelope Dudley Ward, David Tree, Sybil Thorndike and Miles Malleston.

MICKEY AND JUDY COMBINE SCORES

Hollywood's finest juvenile talent, headed by Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, arrived at the Atlas Theatre today in the new M-G-M musical, "Babes on Broadway," and the result is something to shout about.

Both Rooney and Miss Garland have shown their song-and-dance talent in such musical pictures as "Babes in Arms" and "Strike Up the Band," but apparently they were only warming up in these earlier productions, for in this new one they really go to town, not only singing and dancing to the hilt but delivering a series of impersonations of famous theatre people the like of which has never been seen before on either stage or screen.

'BEDTIME STORY' FUNNIEST EVER

Their eyes met at twilight! Their lips met at midnight! Their lawyers met at dawn! It's a continued story, written with laughs and punctuated with kisses, this gay and giddy "Bedtime Story" that one man tells another... and then heaven help the girls!

Frederic March and Loretta Young are starred in the new comedy, Columbia's "Bedtime Story," which opens Friday at the Dominion Theatre. Robert Benchley, Allyn Joslyn, Eve Arden, Helen Westley and Joyce Compton head featured comedy cast in the film, a lesson for husbands, a shock for wives and a howl for everybody who wants to learn about love from experts!

SNOW IN KOOTENAYS

FERNE (CP) — Censorship regulations today permitted disclosure of the fact a snowfall blanketed the East Kootenay district of British Columbia Monday.

Preceded by rain, the storm almost completely disrupted industry, traffic and communications.

The snow melted within 24 hours to cause flood conditions throughout the entire valley, washing out small bridges and highways at points.

Basements of stores and houses were flooded at Natal, and 1,500,000 feet of sawlogs stored behind the dam on the creek east of Michel were in danger of being washed down the creek; for a time when it was feared the dam would break under the heavy pressure of water piling up behind it.

Czechs to Recover Homeland By Christmas?

LIVERPOOL (CP)—President Eduard Benes of the Czechoslovak government "confidently believes we shall be back in our own country by Christmas," a member of his cabinet declared today.

Addressing a public meeting here, Finance Minister Vladislav Felerabek said: "Germany herself has admitted that to prevent collapse she must defeat Russia this summer."

ROMANCE OF 80's NEW SCREEN HIT

All the glamour, all the color and romance of New Orleans of the 1880's have been recaptured and woven into an absorbing and entirely satisfying film in Republic's "Lady From Louisiana," which is currently at the Rio Theatre.

One Munson, who made cinematic history with her Belle Watling role in "Gone With the Wind," and John Wayne, who won equal fame in "Stagecoach," have the romantic leads, each ideally chosen to depict the tenderness and gaiety of their period.

BRIAN DONLEVY IN VIRILE ROLE

The beat of the jungle drums pound out a pattern of tense drama, the romance of a beautiful savage native and a happy-go-lucky adventurer, plus all the color of the wilds of the tropics in the new Universal hit, "South of Tahiti," which is now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

"Virile" is the word for the performance of Brian Donlevy in the starring role as the rough-and-tough pearl fisherman who winds up on an uncharted isle with his two pals, played by Brod Crawford and Andy Devine.

Donlevy carries the romantic theme as well as the activating dramatic interest, and does it full well.

CAPIOT THEATRE

Henry Bellamann, author of the novel upon which Warner Bros. picture, "Kings Row," now being shown at the Capitol Theatre, is based, insists that the town of Kings Row and its characters are purely imaginary.

That Warners has been successful in creating a typical mid-western town as the locale for the picture was indicated when Robert Cummings reported at the Burbank studio to start work with Ann Sheridan, Ronald Reagan.

Dorothy Dix:

War Offers Chance to Make Careful Choice of Mates

A bit of silver lining of the war cloud is that it will give the young people of the country a better opportunity than they have ever had before to make a discriminating choice of their mates. Here, before the boys and girls have been mostly limited in the pick of their wives and husbands by their environment. Tommy had to marry Susie because she was the girl next door, and Marybelle was predestined to go to the altar with John because they had made mud pies together and graduated from the same class in high.

But now, with the boys being all scrambled up together in the army and being continually shifted from one camp to another, it is a different story. It throws the lad from Bird Song, Mississippi, on the doorstep of the girl in Rabbit Track, North Dakota, and sets the maiden in sunny California to teaching the down-east New Englander how to jitterbug.

Probably when Uncle Sam started out to organize his defence forces he had no intention of becoming a match-maker, but you can see with half an eye how enormously this mixing up of the youth of the land expands their matrimonial horizon, and how much better chance it gives them of getting their hearts' desire in a life partner. For now they do not have to take what they can get. They look 'em all over and select the ones that hit their fancies.

It is folly to deny that, taking them as they come, all husbands and wives are pretty much cut off of the same bolt of cloth, and whether they are from the north or the south or the east or the west they average up about the same as to faults and virtues. But for all that husbands and wives do differ from each other as one star differs from another star in glory, and it is the unique opportunity to compare the specimens produced by the different sections of our fair land that the youngsters of today are privileged to enjoy. And I hope to goodness they appreciate their blessings.

FOUR TYPES OF MATES

Let us consider the four types of mates among whom our boys and girls will be able to pick and choose. Let us begin with the northern man who always has a fatal fascination for the southern girl because he represents the big, strong, silent hero of fiction, who is ice without and a seething volcano within, of whom she has read but never met.

Used to the facile love-making of the boys she has grown up with, she takes his dumbness as a sign of deep feeling, and it is only after she has worn herself to a frazzle trying to make an impression upon him that she realizes that he is granite all the way through. Generally speaking—there are exceptions, of course, to every rule—the northern man has more backbone than heart. He is a good provider and makes a better husband than he does a lover.

Pretty much the same thing may be said about the northern girl. She is pretty and intelligent and chic and knows her way about. She is industrious and frugal, a meticulous housekeeper and she will help her husband to make a fortune or get into the Senate, but she doesn't baby him or flatter him, and if a southern man marries her he had just as well make up his mind to live on cold bread the balance of his life.

The eastern man and woman, especially the Bostonians and New Yorkers, are irresistibly alluring to the young inhabitants of the south and west. They are sophisticated, worldly wise; they represent all that ever went with evening dress, as Mr. Kipling used to say. Maud Muller is always flattered when an eastern boy rushes her, but she had better watch her step because his attentions are generally without intentions. He is a good playboy, but when the regiment marches on he is more apt to say, "Please to have met you" than "Will you wait for me?"

A CAN-OPENER COOK

Eastern girls seldom bear transplanting and the man who marries one has to steel himself to endure her moans over living in a barbarous land, far, far from home. Also, if she is a city girl, having been brought up in a two-by-four flat, she is a can-opener cook.

In the west marriage is run on a 50-50 basis as it is nowhere else in the world, and it is folly for either a man or a woman with a head-of-the-house complex to espouse anyone west of the Mississippi. Living handy to the divorce mill, they stand no foolishness from their mates.

Western women were the first publicly to put on the pants. Also, they emancipated themselves from domesticity by substituting the cafeteria for the cook stove, but they make excellent wives for men who are not fussy about their food and who are fond of hiking.

Southern men are a natural as love-makers. They are born with a line that will make any woman who is not stone deaf stop and listen. Unfortunately they do not always mean everything they say, so it is well for a girl to discount their "honeys" and "darlingest thing in the world" until they show up with a wedding ring. As husbands, they are still gallant to their wives and generally treat them as politely as they do their secretaries.

Southern women are the true husband-spoilers, and if a man wants a wife who will baby him and tell him how big and strong and wonderful he is, Dixie is his best bet.

So there you are, boys and girls. Take your choice.

Better English

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "There weren't but three people present."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "corral" (A pen for confining or capturing animals)?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Expediency, expectancy, exultancy.

4. What does the word "inveterate" mean?

5. What is a word beginning with imp that means "weakness"?

ANSWERS

1. Say, "There were but three persons present." "Were not but" forms a double negative. 2. Pronounce ko-ral, o as in of, unstressed, a as in alley, and accent last syllable. 3. Expectancy. 4. Deep-rooted. "The hatred of those who are most nearly connected is the most inveterate."—Tacitus. 5. Impotence.

Balsa Wood Is Lighter Than Cork

If you saw a man carrying a good-sized tree on his back, you probably would think he was very strong.

Twenty years ago a sea captain took his ship to a small bay on the coast of South America. Indian tribes lived in the region. While visiting one of the tribes, Capt. Lundin and his daughter were given a feast. What was their amazement when they saw an Indian chief walk into camp with a tree on his back!

The chief was a strong man, but not nearly so strong as it seemed. He was carrying a balsa tree. So far as is known, balsa wood is the lightest in the world. It is lighter than cork.

Nature has made woods of many kinds, famed for many things. Balsa wood is excellent for making life preservers, but some woods are so heavy that they will not float in water. Black ironwood, for example, would drag a person down if he clung to it. A cubic foot of black ironwood weighs 85 pounds.

Wood differs in color. The beech tree contains white wood. Satinwood is yellow. Walnut is brown. Persimmon wood is black. Some wood is reddish, and one kind is bluish-red.

Ironwood (found in India) is so hard that it blunts any ax which is used to cut it. The cotton-tree of India, on the other hand, has wood so soft that a person can push a pin into it by the pressure of a finger—almost as easily as if he were pushing the pin into a cake of soap.

Cypress wood is noted for its long life after being cut into timber. A cypress chest in the British Museum of London is about 650 years old. The "Cedars of Lebanon," famous in ancient times, have also produced long-lasting timber.

Cedar wood is widely used for making chests to hold linen and woolen cloth. For reasons of their own, clothes moths usually stay away from cedar chests. It seems that they do not like the odor. Chests made of birch wood are used for packing tea.

Red Cross Notes

Open house will be held in the Red Cross Workrooms, Oak Bay Avenue, Friday from 3.15 to 5. Samples of work completed by the various groups and branches will be on display, and tea will be served in aid of the fund for prisoners of war. The workrooms will be in operation as usual for public inspection.

Cordova Bay Red Cross Unit, presided over by Mrs. K. M. Lewis, met at the home of Mrs. B. S. Dyer. Ways of raising funds were discussed, and it was decided to put the "friendship basket" plan into operation at once. Mrs. G. Ross to send out the first basket. Tentative plans were made for a strawberry tea, variety concert and weekly home cooking sales. The unit also plans to have a course of lectures in first aid, given in Cordova Bay and hopes to get names of sufficient people to make a class in next two weeks. Mrs. Dyer served tea, assisted by Mrs. K. Genn and Miss Bethel Thomas. Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ross, June 9.

Tuesday a pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Butcher, Hastings Street, Strawberry Vale, when she entertained with four tables of court whist in aid of the Strawberry Vale Red Cross unit. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Tomlinson, Rex Cretman, Mrs. W. Parsons and Mrs. Buckingham.

Asks Injunction Against Churchill

LONDON (CP)—W. H. Hipwell, Independent candidate in the Salisbury by-election, has applied for an injunction to prevent Prime Minister Churchill writing letters to a government candidate who has not yet been chosen.

"Mr. Churchill's amazing popularity is likely to embarrass would-be supporters of mine and influence them to vote for the party stooge," Mr. Hipwell declared.

He asserted government candidates at by-elections are usually able to wave approving letters from the Prime Minister at their meetings and otherwise obtain wide publicity through the Prime Minister's support.

U.S. Japs' Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wartime civilian control administration has announced wage scales for Japanese evacuated from Pacific coast areas to inland centres would range from $8 to $16 a month.

This will be in addition to food, shelter, clothing, hospitalization and medical care, which are furnished without charge.

The wage scale will affect tens of thousands, since the Japanese, aliens and citizens, to be evacuated from California, Oregon, Washington and Arizona total around 100,000.

The scale was set at conferences in Washington between Secretary of War Stimson and Milton Eisenhower, director of the war relocation authority. Details of its application remain to be announced.

A.R.P. to Conduct Test in Saanich

Saanich A.R.P. organization and all auxiliary services will carry out a test, starting at 7.30 Monday evening. Capt. E. D. W. Leven, Saanich A.R.P. controller, announced Wednesday night.

The practice, similar to one previously conducted in Saanich, will bring into action all first aid, evacuation, police and fire services. A.R.P. officers are asking the public to observe a voluntary blackout.

Capt. Leven said he had obtained from the provincial civilian protection committee approval for the manufacture and issuance of a small silver badge which only A.R.P. workers in B.C. holding the necessary registration cards may purchase. The badges are expected to be ready for distribution in a fortnight.

Designed by a John Roberts, 17-year-old student of Brentwood College, the badges bear a crown, a wreath, and have "A.R.P." in their centres.

ANSWER: Australia is almost as large as continental U.S.

Little Theatre Had Busy Year

Harry J. Davis, president of the Victoria Little Theatre Association, addressing the organization's annual meeting, held Wednesday night at the Little Theatre Hall, reviewed a year of successful activities.

Mr. Davis told of the service the association had rendered to the troops by taking plays to the R.A.F. camp at Patricia Bay and the naval barracks, and by inviting members of the services to productions at the Little Theatre.

Various camps had been visited by members, both individually and in groups, in one-act plays all through the season.

Thanks were extended to many friends and members for time and money devoted to the cause.

Mr. Davis referred to the loss of a generous friend and patron in the death of Lady Barnard.

Special tribute was paid to Les Lamb and Pat Hannington, stage and production managers of several seasons' standing, without whom, the plays could scarcely be the efficient productions which they have undoubtedly been.

The work of Anthony Williams in designing the splendid sets for "Mystery at Greenfingers" and "Lovers' Leap" was especially commended.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, H. J. S. Reynolds, showed that a program of four full-length plays and three evenings of one-act plays had been carried out.

WANTS MORE MEMBERS

The financial report indicated an increasingly stronger position, with assets increasing, and liabilities decreasing, but Mr. Reynolds stressed the importance of a large membership and asked that every member endeavor to obtain at least one new member by next September.

The present season will close on May 27 and 28 next, with the production of "Ladies in Retirement" under the direction of Mrs. Yvonne Stevenson. Plans for next season are well under way and include an opening in September with an evening of three one-act plays and a continuation of the policy of taking entertainment to the troops.

The Little Theatre orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Press, was in attendance and gave several attractive selections. The evening concluded with two short one-act plays, the first, directed by Mrs. Vera Des Brisay, having the following cast: Mrs. Gwen Downes, Mrs. Vera Des Brisay, Miss Catherine Craig, Mrs. J. S. Skinner, Miss Nora Garcin, Mrs. Shirley Forbes, Miss Grace Tuckey, Miss Doree Trevett, with Mrs. Hastings, prompter.

The second play was directed by Miss Constance Thompson and the cast included: Mrs. Ridley, Miss Thompson, Miss Noel Cusack, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Miss Eileen Smyly and Miss M. Bartlett.
